Dr. Sheppard Ready For Lie Detector Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 19 (UP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill today promptly granted Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard's plea for a lie-detector test to prove he did not kill his pregnant wife, Marilyn.

Sheppard, "greatly encouraged" by a Florida convict's statement he may have killed Marilyn, agreed for the first time in the long and controversial case to take a lie detector test.

"I am ready to take the test but I am extremely nervous," Sheppard told his attorney, Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert, in Ohio penitentiary here.

The governor immediately authorized the Court of Last Resort, conducted by mystery writer Earle Stanley Gardner, to give Sheppard the test. No date was set.

"Considering" Evidence
This is the second time an official court has intervened in an Ohio murder case. Several years ago it won a last-minute stay for a man awaiting execution. The court cracked his plea of innocence with a lie detector. He later was executed.

O'Neill said that he was "considering" evidence the court had submitted to him in the Sheppard case. The evidence was that lie detector tests indicated Joseph Wedler told Deland, Fla., authorities the truth when he said he killed a woman near Cleveland.

Brown Takes To Field, Captures Gambling Group
OPELOUSAS, La., July 19 (UP)—State Police Supt. John Nick Brown, posing as a tourist, personally arrested four persons on bolita gambling charges today.

He ordered Sheriff D. J. Doucet of St. Landry Parish to rid the central Louisiana parish of slots and other automatic payoff devices.

The sheriff had no comment. Brown said he had received many complaints about Nolan's Place, a restaurant on the Opelousas-Port Barre highway.

The state police chief lost $80 in two minutes after accepting an invitation to play the game.

Arrests Four
"I showed my credentials and arrested four persons," he added. He identified those arrested as Leo Joubert, Earl Richard and Howard Lay of Opelousas and Arthur Brown of Port Barre.

Judge Lessley Gardiner fixed bonds at $500 each. Brown said he decided to investigate after a Mississippi physician and his wife complained they had lost $240 in the place.

Bolita is played with a numbers board, eight dice and chips. Players roll the dice to make numbers on the board and accumulate points.

Brown confiscated the $80 he lost, tables and equipment.

EN ROUTE TO HOSPITAL—Violinist George Liberace holds open the ambulance door as two attendants carry his mother, Mrs. Frances Liberace, to a receiving hospital yesterday for X-rays after she was severely beaten by two men in a garage adjoining the home she shares with her pianist son, Lee Liberace. Liberace, Mother Put Under Guard

HOLLYWOOD, July 19 (UP)—Pianist Liberace and his mother were placed under police guard today to prevent a possible repetition of a brutal beating administered the mother, Mrs. Frances Liberace, 68, Thursday night by two masked men who broke into her home.

Investigating officers could find no motive for the attack, pointing out that there had been no attempt at robbery in the mother's luxurious Sherman Oaks home.

Liberace currently is in the midst of pressing a 25-million dollar libel suit against Confidential magazine and the attack on his mother came only a few hours after he made a deposition at an attorney's office in connection with the suit.

Mrs. Liberace said she was confronted by the masked men in the garage of the home when she stepped in there on her way to a backyard incinerator.

The elderly woman suffered a fractured rib, bruises and contusions as a result of being "beaten and kicked by the two men."

"They were blacked with slits for their eyes," she told police. "I screamed and ran but they chased me into the kitchen, grabbed me, hit me and threw me down on the floor."

"One of them kicked me in the back. I heard one of them say, 'Hit her again. This will give him something to laugh about.'"

She said she fainted and did not regain consciousness for about 40 minutes when she called a family friend, officer John Redman, who summoned police and notified her mother's daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Liberace.

Rush to Mother's Side
The pianist was not informed of the beating administered his mother until he finished his final show at a Hollywood night club although his brother George was notified.

The brothers rushed to their mother's side as soon as they finished their performance at the Moulin Rouge.

"It's shocking that anyone could attack our mother in such a cruel and inhuman way. At this time we are unaware of the reasons behind this violent attack," the pianist said. "Every precaution will be taken to protect our homes, our lives and our American rights which entitle us to peace and security."

Monroe is getting out her decorations, showing on the fronts of buildings. The very first to come out were the city hall and the Peoples Building and Loan Association building that unfurled big American flags and the colors of the American Legion whose convention for the state will open here next week.

Hotels and motels are prepared to handle the rush. Three downtown hotels are dividing honors. Dances will be held at Hotel Virginia and Hotel Frances, and some sessions will be held in both hotels. Penn Hotel, newest and tallest here, will be headquarters for the Forty and Eight.

The speaker of the convention will be W. C. (Dan) Daniel, from Virginia, where he is a textile executive. M. C. (Mike) Gehl, of (Continued On Page Three-A)

TROUSDALE OUT

Spencer To Helm In Board Dispute

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

The eastside and westside factions of the Ouachita parish School Board staged another battle last night as seven members got up and went home to pave the way for the electing of Dr. E. Spencer as the board's second new president in as many months.

James H. Trousdale, Jr. was removed as president, a position he had held for only one meeting since the ouster of Hugh Balfour at the June meeting.

The upheaval came after the two sides locked horns over where funds would be obtained to construct dressing room facilities at the West Monroe High School football stadium.

Actually, it was the first meeting where the westside had a chance to get back at the eastside for the removal of Balfour.

One faction in the school board is made up of members from areas east of the Ouachita River, and in the other are residents of the section west of the river.

Eastside W. B. Inabett was absent last night, leaving the actual factions with seven members each. Dr. Spencer was the deciding factor.

Called Session
Trousdale had called the special session to consider the appropriation of the funds for the dressing rooms. The westside got the dressing rooms the way they wanted them, but only after Dr.

Spencer, the eastsider from Sterlington, joined their forces.

There were two different motions as to where the dressing room funds would come from. The westside won, 8-7.

Dr. Spencer jumped to his feet and presented the motion that the president's chair be vacated. Trousdale argued that such a move was out of order at a special meeting.

But he threw up his hands and left the room. The remaining six eastsiders followed.

And then came the climax of another chapter in the east-west saga of the ups and downs of the parish school board.

Only Seeker
Dr. Spencer, who waged war against Sterlington principal O. K. Bailey recently, accepted the presidency after nobody else would have it.

One by one, the seven westsiders said they wouldn't have it. Dr. Spencer said he would.

It was the second time Trousdale had been booted out recently. (Continued On Page 7A)

Nuclear Air Defense Age Introduced

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., July 19 (AP)—The age of atomic air defense flashed into being today with the firing of the first air-to-air rocket with a nuclear war-head from a jet fighter plane.

The Air Defense Command called the advent of its powerful weapon a success with these statements:

Col. Hershel E. Parson, deputy to the test manager for military affairs—"The firing was fully successful, including accuracy and effects experiments."

Col. Eric Hutchinson, Webster City, Iowa, pilot of the launching plane—"Everything went fine. We felt the blast very little. Our escape maneuver was not excessive."

Maj. Sydney Bruce, Durango, Colo., one of five officers who were on the ground directly beneath the blast—"We were not bothered by the blast and flash. The radiation hazard was negligible."

Douglas Rocket
The rocket, a Genie produced by Douglas Aircraft Co., streaked out from the F89 Scorpion jet at 7 a.m.

About three seconds later it burst on the target—a designated point in space—with a vivid flash and a subdued roar.

It cast up a dainty smoke ring of pink and white which floated lazily to more than 40,000 feet. Then the cloud drifted northeast and broke up.

Power of the rocket had been announced as well below nominal, but Lt. Gen. J. H. Atkinson, commander of the defense command, with headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo., said before the firing that it "wiped out a close formation of enemy planes."

After the firing, he called the MB1—military designation of the rocket—the "best weapon we have."

Already In Arsenal
Gen. Atkinson had said earlier the defense command already has atomic rockets in its arsenal.

While they are not now carried on planes, they could be installed in a matter of minutes, Atkinson said.

Defense Rests Case In Clinton Racial Trial

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 19 (UP)—Defense lawyers abruptly rested their case today for 11 segregationists charged with conspiring to prevent integration at the racially-torn Clinton high school.

The packed court was adjourned until Monday.

The all-white federal court jury will get the case Tuesday.

The defense for the 10 rests, Chief Counsel Robert L. Dobbs informed Judge Robert L. Taylor shortly after the trial began its 10th day. Segregationist John Kasper's lawyer in the double-joined defense effort quickly followed suit.

Hailed As Test
The trial has been hailed as a test of whether southern juries will convict their fellow whites in cases involving federal encroachment of civil rights and school integration.

Originally 18 persons were charged with violating the injunction issue in August and made permanent last September after anti-integration riots brought 700 Tennessee National Guardsmen to Clinton. One defendant died and charges were dismissed against six others, five during the trial.

Beauty Reveals Cinderella Tale

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 19 (AP)—"We desperately needed money . . . I hoped to get recognition . . . Get good jobs."

Thus, haltingly, a beautiful girl on the verge of tears explained at a dramatic press conference today why she undertook a Cinderella masquerade that came within hours of carrying her into the finals of the Miss Universe contest.

Contest officials who Wednesday night showered Leona Gage with prizes and praise when she was named Miss United States over 44 other lovelies, today capped 12 hours of confusing developments by ousting her for being married.

This knocked Miss United States out of the running for Miss Universe because Miss Gage's successor, Miss Utah, was ruled ineligible for tonight's competition.

Miss Maryland
Leona came here as Miss Maryland and swore she was single. Actually, she is married to an Air Force sergeant by whom she has two boys. This year, for the first time, a rule requires all entrants to be single. If her mother-in-law had kept still, Leona might have had a chance to go all the way.

In two of the five previous contests, Miss United States has become Miss Universe.

Last night, however, while Leona was winning her way into the finals with 14 other girls, rumors started flying that she was married. She denied them, then and again this morning.

Her mother-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Long of Crisfield, Md., told newsmen Leona had been married for four years to Sgt. Gene Norris Ennis, 28, stationed at Friendship International Airport in Maryland.

The mother-in-law said Leona had left the children, Davis, 2, and Gene Jr., 3, in Maryland when she came west. Later, Leona's mother, Mrs. Walter Biggs of Dallas, confirmed the ceremony, as did officials in Vernon, Tex., where it was performed Feb. 3, 1954.

Says She's 21
Leona gave her full name as Mary Leona Gage Ennis and said she's 21. In signing a permit for the 1954 marriage Leona's mother listed her age as 14, which would make her 18 now. Leona came here from Severna Park, Md., with "my best friend, Barbara Mewshaw."

When the tall brunette was chosen Miss United States she and the friend, who gave the name Barbara Gage or Gates, and said she was a cousin, told this rags-to-riches tale:

Smith, who had been hiding behind a nearby signboard, sneaked up and slammed the door shut after Frankie padded back into the eight-by-12-foot cage.

"I think he was thirsty and hot out there in the sun," Smith said. "He really took a big drink when I offered him water, then he jumped at the bars like he was ready to get out again."

Frankie and several bears, which were in other cages on the trailer were due to entertain circus fans at Fort Smith, Ark., tonight.

Can Save Lives
"The majority of filter cigarettes give you more tar and nicotine than you used to get with a regular cigarette," Wynder said.

He said the tars in tobacco contain cancer-producing agents.

Wynder, who has conducted a study of filters, said cigarette manufacturers can "give the public a safer smoking product and . . . can save lives."

He added that manufacturers should be forced through regulations to use filters on cigarettes to reduce the tar intake of the smoker by 40 per cent.

"I would never say that this cigarette would be safe," he said, "I would say it would be safer."

Criticizes Testimony
Wynder criticized testimony given Thursday by Clarence Cook Little of the tobacco industry research committee that it had not been proved that cigarette smoking caused lung cancer.

"The evidence is about as conclusive as you can ever get it to be," Wynder said.

Another witness, R. H. Rigdon, University of Texas, disputed the contention that lung cancer results from cigarette smoking.

"When there are cancer-producing agents in the air we breathe coming from the exhaust of automobiles and from industrial plants," Rigdon said, "I find it impossible to accept the theory that the apparent increase in lung cancer is due to the cigarette."

Bulletin
LONG BEACH, Calif., July 19 (UP)—A dark eyed Senorita from Peru, Gladys Zender, 18, of Lima, tonight was named Miss Universe.

Miss Zender, 5 feet 7, with 36-23-36 measurements, is the first Latin American ever to win the international beauty contest.

Placing second was Miss Brazil, Terezinha Gonçalves Morango, 20, of Marcaus; third was Miss England, Sonia Hamilton, 23, London; fourth, Miss Cuba, Maria Rosa Gamio, 19, Havana, and fifth, Miss Germany, Gerli Daub, 19, Hamburg.

Reform Graduate
The group's missing leader was headquartered in El Paso's south side tenement district and was reported armed with a .45-automatonic and two spare clips of shells. At 14, he already is a reform school graduate for Texas burglaries, Garcia said.

Little loot from the wide-spread burglary operation was recovered. The loss probably will run into thousands of dollars, Hudson said.

Arrested youngsters said they peddled the stolen merchandise to taxicab drivers, bartenders or "just people on the streets" of the twin border cities.

One of the girl "molls" said she had been living by prostitution with young boys since she was 11 years old. Both girls, although small for their ages, were described by police as appearing fully developed.

EL PASO, July 19 (UP)—Ten Mexican children, the oldest 14, were arrested here today as police broke a ring which has committed 45 burglaries and thefts from parked cars.

Arrest of the 14-year-old gun-toting boss of the gang of alien waifs and other members was expected. Det. Lt. J. D. Hudson and juvenile officer I. L. Garcia said the group arrested included two 14-year old Juarez, Mex., girls who admitted playing for pay with the junior thieves.

Free Food For Victims Asked
WASHINGTON, July 19 (UP)—Rep. George Long (D-La.) today introduced legislation which would provide for free distribution of certain government owned commodities to victims of floods, hurricanes and other disasters.

He proposed distribution of surplus farm commodities, cotton for bedding and feed for animals.

CRAWLS INTO CAGE
OKLAHOMA CITY, July 19 (UP)—Frankie, a 500-pound lion with a terrible reputation, had a chance to eat a few people alive today but chose instead to crawl back into his cage where he can have room service.

The eight-year-old African cat was dumped into a weed patch alongside U. S. 62 when a trailer truck of Bill McGaw's motor circus hit a bump, causing his cage to break loose.

Frankie snuffed around in the weeds for nearly 20 minutes while the truck driver, Chuck Smith, 27, frantically cautioned residents of the neighborhood to give him a small hello.

BIG HOLE IN DAM—Earth-filled Terrace Dam, shown crumbling at lower left, threatened to collapse into the San Luis Valley of southern Colorado as 1,000 residents prepared to flee if necessary. Workmen, however, were shoring up the dam which holds back six billion gallons of water, the pressure of which is believed a cause of the partial collapse. (AP Wirephoto)

Engineer Says Dam Saved Below Terrace Reservoir

CAPULIN, Colo., July 19 (UP)—Flood threats below the Terrace Reservoir dam lessened by the hour today and the first of 1,000 evacuees prepared to return home.

"I think we've saved the dam," assistant state engineer Dave Mathias reported shortly after noon. "It is a cautious prediction and it still could break, but right now the valley is on the winning side."

Nearly six billion gallons of water behind the 196-foot high earthen dam have threatened to engulf the valley below since early Thursday when a gushing hole cut through the crumbling face.

Holding Own
Mathias said the dam is "holding its own" against the water pressing against its weakened face.

The reservoir's discharge gates, thrown wide open Thursday, were lowering the water level at a rate of about three feet every 24 hours.

"It's precious irrigation water but it is better to turn it loose than lose lives," said Mathias.

The engineer emphasized, how-

Two Killed In Orleans Traffic

NEW ORLEANS, July 19 (AP)—Traffic accidents here killed two persons today.

Police said Roland Paul, 19, New Orleans Negro, died after being pinned under a beverage truck for about 10 minutes after it collided with a car.

Paul reportedly suffered compound fractures of the entire lower portion of his body.

In the other accident, police said a car apparently went out of control, striking two roadside trees, and killed a woman passenger identified as Lelia Johnson, 28, Thibodaux Negro.

LaSalle Demo Speaks Against Camille Gravel

JENA, (Special) — Allen J. Fortson, former LaSalle parish representative and presently the parish's member on the state democratic central committee, yesterday stated that, "I feel that Camille Gravel has drastically hurt himself in the state of Louisiana by voting as he did," in the national democratic committee.

Fortson further stated that, "I also feel that Gravel has let the people of Louisiana down and particularly he has let the people down who helped nominate him to the position which he now holds."

Concerning any action which might be taken against the national committeeman by Louisiana State Central Committee, Fortson said, "The way I understand the law now, even though the state democratic central committee met and took action, we would not have the authority to recall Gravel; it would be left to the national committee to dismiss him."

Killer Sentry Dog Found Pet For Unwary Pair

OMAHA, Neb., July 19 (UP)—Police today found an escaped army sentry dog, trained to kill Oriental persons without command, leading the life of a gentle pet with an unsuspecting couple.

A general alarm for the killer German shepherd had been broadcast throughout Omaha. The dog, named "Brownie," escaped from a Railway Express crate July 8 and its Army handler telegraphed police Thursday he was "trained to kill Oriental persons without command."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodruff, who have been caring for Brownie for the past two weeks, couldn't believe it.

"Why, he's gentle and minded well," Mrs. Woodruff said. "He's a beautiful thing. I loves to have his coat brushed."

His handler, Sgt. 1-c Ted Wittek, 31, said at Spooner, Wis., that Brownie had been in Korea for five years, including the last part of the Korean war. The dog was trained to smell out Orientals on front line patrols and attack them, Wittek said.

The sergeant planned to send a specially constructed crate to Omaha Monday to bring Brownie to his home at Spooner.

Hit-Run Charge Filed In Death Of Texas Worker

QUANAH, Tex., July 19 (UP)—Hit-and-run charges were filed today against Donald C. Leverett, 19, of Electra, Tex., for the critical injury of W. W. McPherson, a state Highway Department employee.

McPherson was hit by a car last night as he was setting out road flares east of Quanah. Two hours later a car driven by Leverett, carrying five other persons, crashed into a bridge abutment injuring everyone in the car. Officers found flesh on the car's hood ornament.

District Attorney Jack Hightower of Vernon said felony charges of failure to stop and render aid were filed in justice of the peace court against Leverett and he was jailed at Quanah.

The other five occupants of the car were treated at a Chillicothe hospital and none were listed as critical. Three of the five were girls, 14, 15 and 16, who earlier were listed by Electra police as runaways.

WITH UNION FUNDS

Textile Union Secretary Disavows Paying For Home

WASHINGTON, July 19 (UP)—A textile union official testified today that he paid $7,500 in union funds to a mysterious Canadian to keep order in a fight against Communist infiltrators — not to buy furniture for his swank new home.

The official, Lloyd Klenert, secretary-treasurer of the AFL United Textile Workers, also said he and union President Anthony Valente used union funds to help buy their home in an effort to "hide" the money from "hostile" new union members.

But he told the Senate Rackets committee that none of the money he paid the mysterious Canadian, identified only as "Jacques," was used to furnish the houses. He also denied that any other part of $17,500 in union organizing funds was used in such fashion.

Confirms Testimony
Klenert confirmed earlier testimony however, that $7,000 charged off as "organizational" expenses of the union was "laid aside...temporarily" in the form of down payments on the two suburban homes in nearby Kensington, Md.

He testified he met "Jacques"—"that's the only name I know"—in Canada when he went there as Valente's special representative to oust "11 Commies." This apparently was early in June, 1952. Klenert said "Jacques" offered to provide "50 seamen" to be stationed at various plants to restrain any "physical violence" the Communists might start in protest against the ouster.

Agrees To Hire Men
Klenert said he agreed to hire the men for 10 days at $15 per man per day. He said he gave $7,500 in all to Jacques.

He also said he paid about $2,500 to organizers and volunteers in Dan River, Va., about June 16, 1952, when the union was preparing for a National Labor Relations Board representation election. He also said none of this money went for home furnishings.

Ike Turns Chef For Old Friend

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 19 (UP)—President Eisenhower, probably the nation's most famous amateur chef, tried his hand with some new grilling equipment to-night to celebrate the birthday of an old friend.

Eisenhower, who flew here earlier today, invited Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Arthur S. Nevins, friends and Gettysburg neighbors of the President, to an informal "cook-out."

Today is Nevins' 66th birthday. Immediately after he arrived here for the weekend aboard his aero commander, Eisenhower changed clothes and headed for the golf course to play 18 holes with Nevins. The President's grandson, 9-year-old David, drove Eisenhower's light blue golf cart around the course for the pair.

David and his sisters, Barbara, 8, and Susan, 5, are spending the weekend at the farm with the President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

As usual, the presidential score was a secret. But after a few practice swings Eisenhower drove 200 yards straight toward the pin on the first hole.

Eisenhower plans to return to Washington late Sunday or early Monday.

U.S. House Raps Proposed 'Visit'

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—Soviet Marshal Zhukov was denounced in the House today as "the butcher of Budapest" and several legislators advised the Eisenhower administration not to invite him to this country.

President Eisenhower, in response to questions Wednesday, had said it might be helpful to American - Russian relations if Zhukov, his old World War II colleague, exchange visits with Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Rep. Judd (R - Minn.) said it seems "unthinkable" to consider extending such an invitation and another Republican, Rep. Bentley of Michigan, said, "I suggest someone assist the President in his press conferences because statements such as he made Wednesday give the Communists material of immense value to them."

The House discussion arose during debate on the foreign aid bill. Bentley tried unsuccessfully to amend the bill to bar aid to Yugoslavia, saying there was talk that Marshal Tito might be invited here after Congress adjourns. Plans for a Tito visit were abandoned last winter because of congressional and other opposition.

Fulbright, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, dwelt at length on the President's description of a three-hour conversation he once had with Zhukov in Berlin about the relative merits of communism and democracy.

Eisenhower recalled that he had "a very tough time trying to defend our position" when Zhukov insisted that the Soviet system "appealed to the idealistic and we completely to the materialistic." The President remarked that it is hard to convince some people that the sun is hot and the earth is round.

"If we are to invite the Russian leaders here for a visit I do hope someone will brief the President on some answers to Zhukov's arguments and inform him about the values of our free system of

Army Cashiers Major For Fraud In Letter Case

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany, July 19 (AP)—A U.S. Army security officer was convicted today of falsifying a document to cover up the loss of a top-secret letter.

A general court-martial ordered Maj. Harry G. Thorpe of Arlington, Va., dismissed from the service with forfeiture of all pay and allowances. He was specifically convicted of making a false official statement and conduct unbecoming an officer.

The chief witness against Thorpe was Sgt. Dan Burns, who told the court a document known as "PS332, 7th Army letter of instruction on emergencies" was missing in an inventory in April, 1956.

Thorpe, who was top-secret control officer for the Army's Western Area Command in Germany at the time, made an intense search for the missing paper but failed to find it. Sgt. Burns testified.

Shortly before the major was transferred to other duty in October, he signed a certificate of destruction and instructed Burns to file it in place of the lost letter the sergeant told the court.

FIVE MINISTERS INJURED IN CAR WRECK—Officer Joseph Battaglia of the Monroe police department inspects the wreckage of a car which was carrying five Negro ministers from Crossett to a West Monroe revival. Officer E. E. Robinson also investigated the mishap, in which all five were injured and taken to St. Francis hospital. (Staff photo by Roger Dean)

FIVE ARE MINISTERS

7 Persons Suffer Injuries In 2 Auto Accidents Here

Seven Negroes were injured in two separate car accidents yesterday. Five ministers traveling from Crossett to West Monroe were hurt at 7:15 p.m., when the car in which they were riding went out of control on a double curve on Breard street, and slid 50-75 feet along the edge of a ditch before going into a culvert.

Monroe police also reported that five other accidents took place on the average of 14 minutes and 12 seconds apart last night, all during the rainstorm.

The minister's car halted in front of a store at 3101 Breard street. Two of the injured were taken to St. Francis hospital by a passing motorist, and three others were taken in Mulhearn ambulances.

Most seriously injured was the Rev. John Warren, the driver of the car, who suffered a broken arm and left ankle, lacerations of the face and of the nose. Surgery was required to set his arm.

Also Injured
Also hurt were the Rev. B. J. Jackson, who had a severe gash on the forehead, the Rev. E. W. Ralford, chest injuries, the Rev. Porter Jasper, cut chin, and the Rev. Edward Daniel, lacerated and bruised right arm.

All five men's wives were riding in a car behind the one which smashed up, but they were not involved in the wreck. The concrete culvert and some bricks owned by the store were also damaged.

Shortly before 5 p.m., two Negro women were injured when a car in which they were passengers was hit by a taxi driven by Freddie W. Jones, 46, Negro of Monroe. Jones was charged with reckless driving.

The mishap occurred at DeSiard street and North 11. Jones was attempting to make a left turn off North 11 on to DeSiard when he hit the car driven by Jack Potts, Jr., Negro, 32, of 1308 Powell street. The Jones car was knocked up onto the sidewalk next to the cemetery.

Henrietta Hill, 34, of Bosco was taken to St. Francis hospital by Kilpatrick ambulance. She suffered a stomach and back injury. Brought to the hospital by Miller's ambulance was Louise Potts, 48, of 1208 Powell avenue who suffered side and chest injuries. Both were admitted to Reginald Hall.

Stripped Of Title
Today, stripped of her title and thousands of dollars worth of prizes, she told this story: "My husband makes only $300 a month. We owe a lot of bills. We live in a rented house. We don't have our own furniture. My children are healthy but they need clothes. "I wasn't making much money modeling. . . I wanted recognition. . . better jobs."

When she became Miss Baltimore, she said, she confessed she was married. But she said her sponsor told her not to worry.

She added: "I didn't expect to be Miss United States. But I am very grateful. At least I was Miss USA for a day. . . I'm so glad it's all over. . . I was scared." A reporter remarked that she gave a convincing performance. "I always wanted to be an actress," she replied.

Already she has an offer from Spike Jones to appear on his TV show.

Holding Leona's hand at the press conference was Miss Utah, blonde, blue-eyed Charlotte Sheffield, 20, of Salt Lake City. She was runner-up in the Miss United States contest and inherits the crown. She is barred from the finals, however, as she did not compete against the foreign entries last night and judges thus can't compare her with them.

The 16th girl in the judging, Argentina's Monica Lamar, rounds out the field of 15 finalists.

The prizes Leona won, all except a wardrobe she already has claimed, go to Miss Utah. These include a house trailer, a contract with a cosmetics firm and a trip to Europe.

A contest official bought her a ticket and said Leona plans to leave tonight by plane for Baltimore. He quoted her: "I have to go back and straighten out things in my family life." She did not elaborate, but said she is turning down offers of nightclub and TV appearances.

Ethyl Corp. Slaps Back At School Board Action

BATON ROUGE, July 19 (AP)—Ethyl Corp. slapped back today at the East Baton Rouge Parish school board for its chastisement of three teachers working at the strikebound Ethyl plant.

This was the latest development as the 10-day-old walkout of United Mine Workers district 50, local 12, 900, continued in a stalemate.

UMW members — 2,250 strong — quit work July 9, protesting new Ethyl manpower assignments would mean layoffs.

Shocked
The East Baton Rouge Parish school board last night censured three teachers for remaining on their summer jobs after the strike began.

Resident manager Wallace F. Armstrong commented today, "we are shocked at the reported action of the . . . school board to censure the school teachers who have been employed at the Ethyl plant for the summer months."

He charged the action followed "one-sided representations made by some members of the United Mine Workers."

Armstrong said the teacher employment program began several years ago to give high school and college faculty a chance to "gain practical experience, earn an income during the summer months and help to promote and broaden interest in scientific education."

He said all three teachers "have been at work since early June, fully a month before the strike began."

"We deplore the fact that the East Baton Rouge Parish school board, by their ill-advised action, should make the teachers the innocent victims of a management-labor dispute."

Discuss Demands
Meanwhile, Ethyl management met today with representatives of the nonstriking allied oil workers union to discuss AOWU demands all AOWU members be put back to work. No report of the closed discussions was immediately available.

AOWU members respected UMW picket lines for six days, then asked the UMW to remove pickets from one gate so they could report back to work. The UMW agreed.

But Ethyl refused to admit the AOWU members, explaining they would be called back as soon as job assignments were available. However, some 200 of the almost 1,000 union members still had not been called back to work today. They were told by management yesterday they could consider themselves on "leave of absence."

"When one adds this nearly 400 million dollars increase to the $1,200,000,000 increase on that part of the debt previously refunded, one finds that the taxpayer must pay a total of nearly $1,600,000,000 of the Eisenhower tight money policy," he said.

Sparkman said that the interest on the national debt resulting from climbing interest rates will continue to spiral unless the administration changes its policy. He said higher interest rates on the national debt also result in higher charges on municipal bonds, state indebtedness, small business loans, home purchases, automobiles and appliances.

Sparkman Raps High Federal Interest Rate

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said today the Eisenhower administration has cost American taxpayers about 20 billion dollars in higher credit charges.

"Who gets these billions?" he asked, and said the answer was obvious. The senator charged that it was "merely the Republican Party's way of repaying its campaign contributors and of letting those who control the purse strings also control the government."

Sparkman's comment came in a statement in connection with the treasury's announcement that it will pay 4 per cent interest on 24 billion dollars in treasury notes and certificates of indebtedness to replace those maturing Aug. 1, Aug. 15 and Oct. 1.

"What further proof does the American taxpayer need that he is being taken on a hay ride by the Eisenhower administration than today's announcement," Sparkman asked.

400 Million A Year
American taxpayers will have to pay 400 million dollars a year more during the life of these bonds than they paid in preceding years, he said.

"When one adds this nearly 400 million dollars increase to the $1,200,000,000 increase on that part of the debt previously refunded, one finds that the taxpayer must pay a total of nearly $1,600,000,000 of the Eisenhower tight money policy," he said.

Fighting Mayor Shows Gentler Side In Jail

AURORA, Ill., July 19 (UP)—Mayor Paul Egan was locked up in his own jail for two hours today for punching one of his aldermen in the eye.

Even worse, Aurora's fighting mayor wound up in the women's section of the lockup.

But Egan showed the gentle, philosophical side of his nature while behind bars.

"You know me, I'm a lover, not a fighter," he said.

Egan chose a cell in the otherwise empty women's section rather than post a $200 bond for taking a poke at Alderman William B. Robertson at a city council meeting Thursday.

The mayor was just beginning to enjoy the peace of jail life when a friend turned up and posted the bond. Egan went home to a good night's sleep before his appearance Saturday before a justice of the peace on assault and battery charges.

Reorganization Plan To Cut Texas Into Regions

AUSTIN, July 19 (UP)—A reorganization plan for the Texas Department of Public Safety, dividing the state into six regions, was announced today by the Public Safety Commission.

Officials said the plan, to be put into effect Sept. 1, provides for regional headquarters at Lubbock, Corpus Christi, Waco, Houston, Dallas and Midland.

The reorganization program was announced at a news conference by W. E. Dyche of Houston, chairman of the Public Safety Commission. Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety and Joe Fletcher, assistant director of the DPS.

Plan Adopted Today

The plan was adopted at a meeting of the Public Safety Commission today, and was based on

Dogs Used To Track Missing Boys In Texas

AUSTIN, July 19 (UP)—Bloodhounds were being used today in the search for two boys who, with nine others, escaped from the Gatesville School for Boys Thursday night.

The other nine were recaptured. Those still at large were Martin Kinsey, 17, of Waco, and David Williams, 16, of Corpus Christi.

The Department of Public Safety said the two were believed to be still in the Gatesville area.

Five of the boys were recaptured in the Gatesville area immediately following the escape. Three others were taken into custody in Austin early today in a stolen pickup truck.

State police said the pickup belonged to S. S. Skidmore of Stephenville. The boys in it were Alfredo Martinez, 16, Fred Jimenez, 16 and Carlos Marcias, 15. Automobile theft charges were to be filed against one of the boys by the Department of Public Safety announced.

recommendations of the Texas Research League, a private governmental research organization.

R. A. (Bob) Crowder, long-time Ranger captain who heads the Ranger force with headquarters in Austin, will command the Panhandle region based at Lubbock. Other regional commanders will be Kent Odom, Corpus Christi; W. J. Elliott, Waco; Glen Rose, Houston; Guy Smith, Dallas and W. E. Speir, Midland.

Odom is now in charge of the department's License and Weights division in Austin. Elliott is chief of the Highway Patrol. Rose is Highway Patrol captain at Houston. Smith is a Highway Patrol captain at Tyler, and Speir holds the same post at Pecos.

Tisdale Chief

Dyche said Joel Tisdale will be chief of Identification and Intelligence Services. A. F. Temple was named chief of Motor Vehicle Records and Services. Glen McLaughlin will be chief of Personnel and Staff Services. G. W. Busby will be chief of Inspection and Planning.

Each regional commander probably will be given the title of major, Dyche said. He said under the reorganization plan, there will be no post of chief of the Ranger force.

Garrison said the plan would not call for movement of personnel, except the regional commanders. Dyche emphasized there would be no salary cuts or demotions for anyone in the department of public safety as a result of the reorganization.

Youth Given Salk Series Polio Victim

RAYVILLE (Special)—A nine-year-old Rayville boy, who had three Salk anti-polio shots, yesterday was recovering from a case of non-paralytic polio, his family and doctor reported.

Confined to bed at his home for about two more weeks was Eddie Standsbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lavelle Stansbury.

Three Shots
The youth's mother said Eddie received all three of his Salk vaccine shots during the school year. He was promoted to the fourth grade.

Eddie was hospitalized at St. Francis Hospital from Monday until Wednesday where the diagnosis of polio was confirmed.

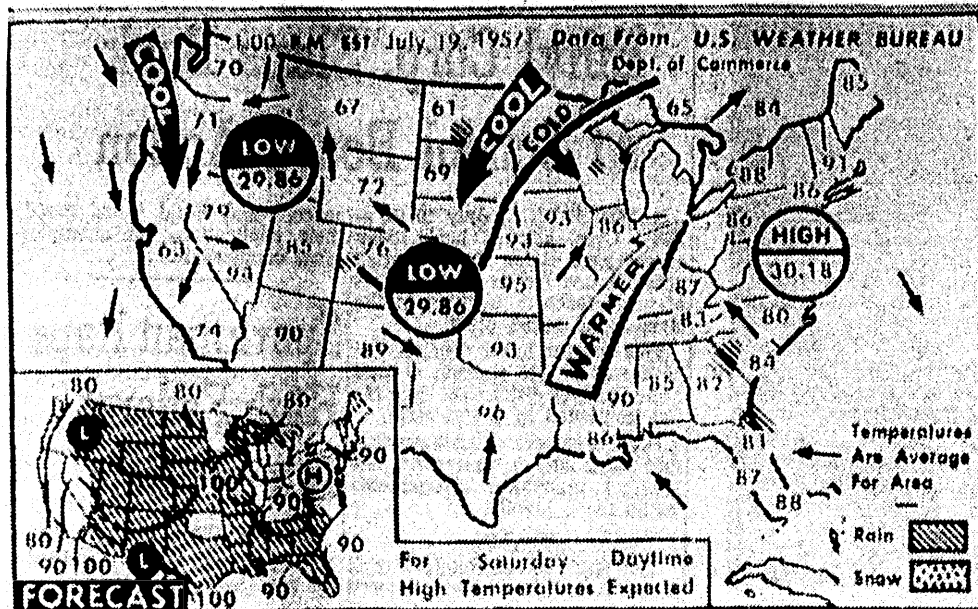

It was reported that there have been only 19 cases of polio throughout the country where paralysis followed when patients had had the Salk series of three shots.

Canning Plant At Oak Grove Gets Go Ahead

BATON ROUGE, (Special)—A new $125,000 canning plant to be built with funds from an industrial bond issue in West Carroll parish, was approved this week by the Louisiana Board of Commerce and Industry.

A West Carroll delegation headed by Oak Grove Mayor D. B. Fiske appeared before the board to seek approval of the West Carroll police jury's agreement with Lloyd J. Cobb of New Orleans.

Under the agreement, Cobb is to construct a canning plant in Oak Grove, to be known as Marydale Products Co. with an annual payroll of about $300,000. The plant will can sweet potatoes, beans and other agricultural products of the area.

After approval of the state bond and tax board, the police jury is expected to call an election in which property taxpayers will be asked to authorize issuance of $125,000 worth of bonds for construction of the new canning plant. West Carroll parish's first industry.

Galveston Mayor Unchanged On Prostitution

GALVESTON, July 19 (UP)—Galveston Mayor George Roy Clough indicated at a news conference today that his stand in favor of regulated prostitution may be virtually unchanged.

"We have it, and we've got to live with it," Clough said.

"If we must live with prostitution, and we have had it since the days of Christ, it should be used or handled in some way where it is regulated and that includes the medical regulations," Clough said.

Attorney General Will Wilson was with Clough when he made the statement. Wilson remarked that murder and theft have also existed since the days of Christ, and that they have to be dealt with by the law.

Main Movement Of Vegetables In Miss. Over

JACKSON, Miss., July 19 (UP)—The main movement of Mississippi vegetables is about over, the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

The service said the commercial tomato season was over except for light supplies going to canning plants in south Mississippi and to fresh markets from Yazoo and Lafayette counties.

Shipping sheds for green peppers probably would close about tomorrow but light supplies would continue to move into local markets and into New Orleans.

Hurricane Audrey damage to green peppers "wasn't as bad as most observers thought it was right after the hurricane," the service said.

Small amounts of green pepper will be available in Covington, Marion and Simpson counties and some from a few fields in Copiah County until about Sep. 1.

Watermelons are moving in heavier volume. Condition of the melon crop has been spotted this year with some areas too dry and others too rainy.

Attorney Offers To Help Develop Galveston, Tex.

GALVESTON, July 19 (UP)—Attorney General Will Wilson met with a group of Galveston county city officials today and offered to do what he could to help develop the community.

"It was merely a general discussion with leaders of the county," he told a news conference after a two-hour session with 18 civic leaders at the Galvez hotel.

Wilson denied that any kind of a deal was made to let the Baines Room or other plush private gambling clubs re-open. The attorney general also said his recent crackdown on vice and gambling in Galveston would not have an adverse effect on the city's tourist trade.

"This meeting was held strictly for suggestions by which Galveston county could be further developed on an industrial and business basis and Galveston itself as a tourist center," Wilson said.

The attorney general made peace with one of his most formidable opponents at the meeting. Wilson and Galveston Mayor George Roy Clough, who won his office on a campaign of a "clean but open city," shook hands after the meeting.

Wilson praised Clough's efforts to raise police standards and improve the honesty of local government. Then the attorney general said:

"I want to work with Clough and also Jack Goddard, mayor of Texas City, and Charles Yesterlidge, mayor of La Marque, for the future growth and development of Galveston county."

"I like Galveston and plan to spend my vacation here," Wilson said.

Texas Cattlemen Plan To Market 37,000 Head

AUSTIN, July 19 (UP) — The U. S. Department of Agriculture today reported that Texas cattle feeders plan to market an estimated 37,000 head during July and August.

This represents 57 per cent of the 65,000 head the USDA reported as being in feed July 1 in the state, and is, percentage wise, an increase of five points over last year's marketings.

However, the actual number of cattle marketed will probably be less than last July-August, due to 18 per cent drop this year from the number of cattle on feed in July, 1956.

The USDA reported that during the last quarter 55,000 head were marketed out of feed pens and replacements totalled 48,000. For the same quarter in 1956, marketings were 81,000 and replacements 63,000.

Feeding was down on the farms feed lots, and commercial lots, and all weight categories showed decreases from last year.

On July 1, cattle on feed totalled 20,000 head in less than 600-pound category, 37,000 in 600-900-pound class, and 8,000 in 900 to 1,300 pound class.

About 52 per cent of the cattle on feed, or 34,000, were steers, along with 20,000 heifers, 10,000 calves and 1,000 calves and bulls.

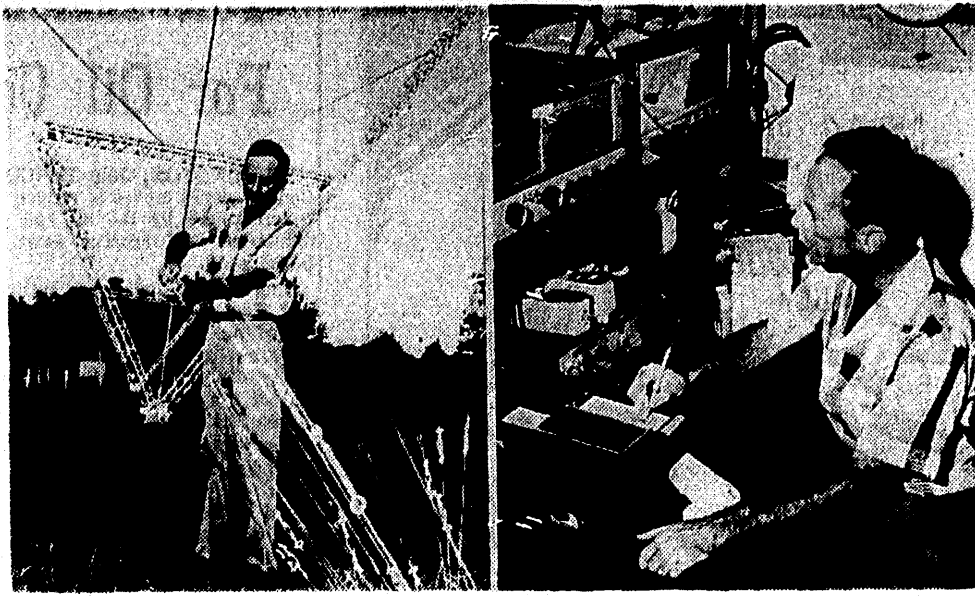

Placements Of Chicks Down In Texas, Report

AUSTIN (UP) — Texas broiler chick placements for the week ending July 13 were down 8 per cent from the previous week and totaled 2,102,000, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today.

This total was 7 per cent below the same week ending July 13, 1956. The output of Texas hatcheries at 2,038,000 was 68,000 below that of a week earlier.

Eggs placed in incubators for broiler production during the last week totaled 2,530,000, about 7 per cent below the previous week. Finished broiler prices averaged 21.3 cents per pound, unchanged from last week, and straight run chick prices were reported at $12.10 per 100, a drop of 10 cents from the preceding week.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Zhukov Not Likely To Get Invitation To Visit U.S.

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

When President Eisenhower suggested that any conference in this country by Gen. Georgi Zhukov might better be with Defense Secretary Wilson than himself he put the whole thing on the back burner.

Nonetheless, the very idea has stirred up considerable comment both inside and outside of Congress.

Rep. Bentley, Michigan Republican, put his finger on one of the most serious considerations—if the matter is to have any serious consideration at all—when he pointed out that Zhukov is a prime defendant in a case now pending before the United Nations.

In that case, the Russian regime and the Red Army which Zhukov heads are accused of butchery and aggression in Hungary.

Can't Fete Zhukov
The United States could hardly be in the position of feting Zhukov—and he would have to be feted if invited—while helping to prosecute that case.

Nobody in this country, of course, knows exactly what responsibility Zhukov bears in the Hungarian case.

He is a high muckety-muck in Russian political councils in addition to being defense minister. He may one day turn out to be the most important force in those circles. If he had opposed the Hungarian action his voice would have been heard, perhaps decisively.

The President, however, credits Zhukov with being a sincere Communist. A sincere Communist would have felt the Hungarian action justified.

In addition, Zhukov is a good soldier and a good soldier carries out the edicts of his government. Zhukov would have had an interest in the strategic importance of Hungary to Russia, regardless of politics.

Zhukov would not have resisted such an action any more than the German generals resisted the rape of Belgium in 1914.

Despite the President's mention of possibilities, there is no more reason to believe that Wilson could convince Zhukov that the American military posture is for defense only than Eisenhower could convince him of the superiority of democracy over communism.

The principal upshot of such a visit would be to convince some people that the United States is willing to do business with murderers, and that some day she might do business to the detriment of her allies and others.

Anyway, the whole thing has now become academic. Indeed, the discussion serves only to overridingly what was discussed in the beginning merely as a casual possibility.

A proposed visit by Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, who at least encouraged the dissenting elements

MPSC Finishes Public Hearings On Rule Changes

JACKSON, Miss., July 19 (UP)—Mississippi's three-man Public Service Commission today ended public hearings of proposed changes in its tentative rules of procedure and promised a final decision before Aug. 1.

Private utilities — Mississippi Power and Light Co. and Mississippi Power Co. — have sought changes that would:

1. Permit private utilities to grant additional certification by the commission in those rural areas served by co-ops but taken into municipalities by extension of municipal limits.

2. Permit industries to choose whether to buy power from a co-op or from a private utility.

3. Permit private utilities to serve industries outside municipalities.

Harvey Hedgepeth of Jackson, attorney representing 20 co-ops, said the proposed changes would permit private utilities to induce city officials to extend corporate limits and either oust the co-ops or permit the private utilities to move into the co-ops' territory.

Hedgepeth said this also would usurp the authority of the commission to determine the public need and necessity before certifying the utility's area.

In Poland nad Hungary, was dropped after criticism of his record of trying to play both Russia and the West. Five will get you ten that Zhukov won't be coming.

CAR FLIPS OVER INJURING WOMAN

A West Monroe woman was injured yesterday morning when the car which she was driving went out of control on a curve on Downing Pines road.

The car flipped over and the entire top was smashed in. Margie Goodson of 319 Hazelwood was taken to St. Francis hospital by a passing motorist. She suffered bruises on the left arm, right shoulder, right leg, and a cut on the left hand. X-rays disclosed that there were no broken bones, and she was not hospitalized. State police investigated.

Extortion Case Suspect Nabbed

An area man was arrested by the Ouachita parish sheriff's department yesterday while making a collection for an extortion scheme against a West Monroe business man, John William Barkley, Jr., 21, who lives near Calhoun was picked up while receiving $2000 from his intended victim.

Authorities explained extortion as an attempt to collect money through threat to do violence or bodily harm. "The defendant admitted his scheme to collect the $2,000," Grant stated.

Barkley yesterday was being held in the parish jail.

Signs Switched At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, July 19 (UP)—Baton Rouge lost a hotel, gained a hotel and one moved across the street today.

It's all very simple. It was done by changing signs.

The Heidelberg Hotel, a 30-year Baton Rouge institution, now is known as the Capitol House.

The King Hotel across the street, established 25 years ago, became the Heidelberg Hotel.

It's part of remodeling and enlarging by Alfred Glassell of Shreveport, who owns both hotels. Glassell is building a 10-story annex to the Capitol House.

U.S. Freedom In Danger

A coalition as dangerous to states' rights, individual rights and the American way of life as is the Zhukov-Khrushchev dictatorship to the freedom of the Russian people has been in the making in Washington within recent weeks.

This danger may not yet be past but it has been disclosed — disclosed to the president of the United States, to some members of congress who were previously uninformed, to the press of the north which had espoused interracialism and to the people of this country.

This danger is the so-called "civil rights" bill, which was designed and concocted to hand over to the whims of the United States supreme court, to the attorney general of the United States and to the armed forces every right possessed by the 48 states of the union and by the individual citizens of those states.

Attorney General Brownell, apparently without informing president Eisenhower, wrote the "civil rights" bill in such a way that it would have authorized the attorney general to intervene in all cases in which a violation of civil rights was claimed, regardless of whether or not there was proof was offered, and would have authorized federal trial, without a jury, of all such accused persons. It would have authorized the use of army and navy forces to compel compliance in any state with any edict that might be issued by a federally appointed "referee."

That bill is still being debated in the United States senate. It may be defeated and, if not, undoubtedly will be amended so as to remove some of its onerous provisions, but if it is defeated it will be because of the vigorous fight conducted by southerners, led by Senator Russell of Georgia, and not by the efforts of any of the highest officials of this land.

Without informing the president, Brownell laid the groundwork for a Brownell-Warren-army coalition similar to that set up in Russia by Zhukov and Khrushchev and under which the states and individuals would have been powerless.

The U. S. attorney general is supposed to supply all necessary legal advice, particularly on legislation, to the chief executive.

There are many indications that the president, instead of being informed, has been grossly deceived, perhaps with deliberate intent, on provisions of the pending "civil rights" bill specifically invoking use of federal troops to enforce federal court injunctions in school integration or any other type of civil rights cases, whether racial or non-racial.

The president at least four times had publicly stated that the "civil rights" bill, as he understood it, was no more than legislative establishment of "simple justice" of the right of American citizens to organize as they do in the United States, to occupy enormous office space, to employ many men and women, some of whom are even experts, to own a tremendous inventory of equipment and to maintain public relations offices in New York and lobbying agents in Washington. These organizations, no matter for what temporary reason organized, became permanent institutions ever seeking new activities for their large staffs.

Rhodes told the American Bar Association: "These organizations have held themselves out as specialists in their field and through their legal counsel have offered and provided legal advice to laymen, litigants, as well as to lawyers. They have supplied funds for litigation, recommended and supplied counsel to litigants either from their own staff, committees and panels, or from selected groups. They have instituted proceedings in their own name and in the name of litigants, have intervened in pending cases, and have in instances interjected themselves into cases without prior request initiating from litigants."

These are very serious charges and according to the canon of legal ethics, the American Bar Association should go after these organizations at once and should bring charges against the lawyers concerned, because these are definitely shyster practices and remind me of my earliest childhood when "Silver Dollar" Smith ran a beer saloon opposite the Essex Market Courthouse in New York where justice was bought and sold and Smith cleaned up so bountifully that he paved the floor of his saloon with silver dollars, a desecration of federal currency, beyond doubt.

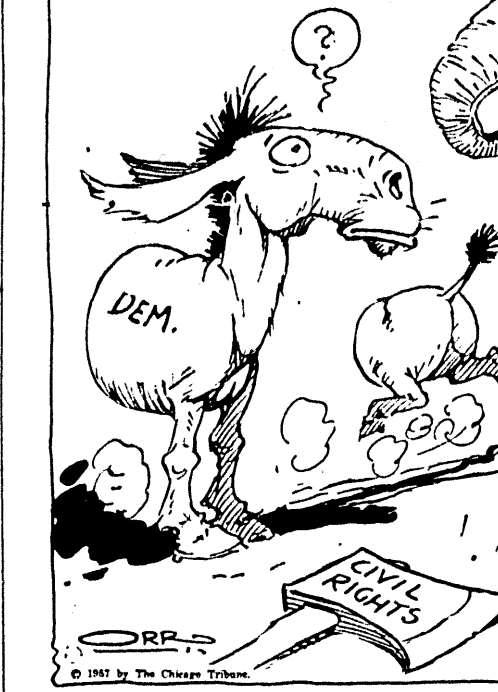

However, I do not believe that Rhodes will get to first base with his protest because many of the organizations to which he refers are now politically more powerful than the American Bar Association and control and dominate many politicians who can be defeated in their areas if the opposition of these organizations to them becomes sufficiently vehement.

Rhodes makes the point in his memorandum: "These organizations habitually boast of their legal activities and prowess in their publications, their daily publicity and particularly in their annual reports. It is obvious why they must do so; not only is the gaining of legal results one of their aims," but in addition, their income..."

Records of some of the other members of the high court are almost as bad. Chief Justice Warren seems to have set out upon a course calculated to exceed even that of Douglas. Douglas leads him only in the fact that he has participated in more decisions.

In addition to these two, impeachment of Justices Black, Frankfurter, Reed and Clark also was proposed.

Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman, in a recent letter to a Monroe resident, said that information concerning the supreme court, except its public decisions, not only is not available to the public but is not available to members of congress. The congressman said he could not obtain a list of the employees of the supreme court.

Verdict Of Guilty Against Mitchell Will Stand Despite Plea For Removal

Verdict of guilty against late Brig. Gen. William B. Mitchell in 1925 court martial will not be removed despite request of Air Force Association that his name be cleared. Prediction is that special board, after request, in which members of Mitchell's family joined, will point out that military court found him guilty of insubordination, which is severe charge against a general officer. Fact that his refusal to obey orders resulted in world shaking disclosure that air bombing could sink a battleship is set aside.

HOLMES ALEXANDER

Meat-Packing Control By Trade Commission Sought

WASHINGTON, D. C. —There's an "open door" policy for Senator Arthur W. Watkins R., Utah at the White House, and the senator is often the carrier of good common sense — a commodity too often in short supply on all political premises.

This time last year the straight-backed, gray - haired senator was chairman of the natural resources committee that was drawing up that phase of the 1956 Republican platform. In his earlier days Watkins was a poor man's lawyer in the rural reaches of his state, and he has many memories of small farmers, stockmen and miners whose contracts he drew and cases he pleaded. It never made much sense to Watkins when he saw policies in Washington which favored the Hottentot and ran Utah producers out of business. He undertook to pledge the GOP to abandon the free trade practices which its liberals were pressing upon it and to return to something like frank protectionism of domestic products.

This was not easy. Some of the GOP leaders wanted weasel words which would have no binding. Their proposed plank on foreign trade mentioned "necessary safeguards for American agriculture labor and business." It pledged "reasonable" progress toward those ends. This statement did not satisfy Watkins. He telephoned London and got in touch with Secretary of State Dulles who agreed after some persuasion to stronger language. Watkins amended the GOP platform to read: "We pledge faithful and expeditious administration of these provisions." It was on the basis of this statement that the president agreed this session to the long - term minerals policy and its frank protection of domestic products.

Early in this same session of congress the senator undertook another chore for the small producers of the west. In conjunction with Democratic Senator Joseph Ambassador Georgi Zaroubin has cancelled plans for vacation in Canada has been called home to Moscow for consultation. If he returns here, State Department officials expect he will carry bid for new "summit" conference, make overtures for better relations between U.S. — USSR as part of new Khrushchev policy.

However, prediction is also made that Zaroubin may be moved up in Soviet Foreign Office, may even be new Foreign Minister.

Olympic Games — On top of losing Pan-American games, to have been held next year in Cleveland, U.S. may lose 1960 Olympics scheduled for Los Angeles. Unless Congress gives emergency exemption to athletes from immigration law requiring finger printing of all entrants from Communist countries, they are expected to withdraw from games. Meanwhile, California is lagging in raising of funds for game installations.

State Department has hesitated to give Avery Brundage, veteran chairman of U.S. Olympic committee, passport to Roumania, Bulgaria and other satellite countries. Prediction is he will be allowed to go and decision whether to proceed with games arrangements may depend on his report.

Veterans' Benefits — President Eisenhower considering whether to recommend cuts in veterans' benefits, now five billion dollars annually, in 1958 budget message. He has told some of his advisors he will put it up to Congress. Prediction, however, that such proposal would have small chance in an election year.

Strange Bedfellows — California predict strange Republican political alliance next year with Vice President Richard M. Nixon quietly helping his political rival, Senator William F. Knowland get the GOP nomination for governor against incumbent Governor Goodwin Knight. Reason is that Nixon fears Knight political machine might withhold from him California delegation to 1960 Republican convention while Knowland, if elected Governor, would have to fight for the delegation with Nixon even terms.

Nixon has been told that he is stronger than Knowland in California. Knowland evidently believes the contrary.

Folsom Was Sharp — Cabinet members give glowing congratulations to Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Marion B. Folsom, former treasurer of Eastman Kodak, as best business man in President's official family. Folsom emphasized nation's health needs in his approach to House and Senate Appropriations committees, was given more money than he asked, while other departments had their budget estimates sharply cut.

Calculated Risk — Three potential Democratic possibilities — Senators Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas, Estes Kefauver and Albert Gore, Tennessee, took calculated risk in voting to consider civil rights bill. Eighteen senators from nine other southern states opposed consideration.

The risk was that they may face opposition for renomination in their states. Gore in 1958 and other two in 1960. All reserved right to vote against bill, but took position Senate was entitled to have it considered.

Johnson was first Texas senator in history to vote "yes" on any civil rights measure. His colleagues, Senator Ralph Yarborough joined him.

CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

Tax Benefit Reductions For Oil Concerns Sought

WASHINGTON, July 19 (CQ)—Congressional moves to reduce tax benefits held by the oil and gas industries will receive new impetus soon.

The Senate Judiciary Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, in a report on its early 1957 hearings into the European oil lift, is virtually certain to recommend the end of tax concessions to United States firms operating abroad.

The report will provide a rallying point for opponents of all or some of the tax concessions enjoyed by both domestic and overseas oil firms. In the past these opponents have diminished their effectiveness by not having a central target.

For example, some, like Subcommittee Chairman Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) and Sen. John A. Carroll (D., Colo.), represent states with large oil and gas fields and oppose only the foreign tax concessions. Others, like Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D., Ill.), want the 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance restricted for large firms, but do not oppose allowance for the small independent producer such as in Illinois.

Many consumer state spokesmen, such as Sens. George D. Aiken (R., Vt.), William A. Purtell (R., Conn.), Margaret Chase Smith (R., Maine) and Reps. John W. Heselton (R., Mass.) and Charles A. Vanik (R., Ohio), want an across-the-board reduction. Sen. John J. Williams (R., Del.) opposes the domestic allowance rate but defends the foreign tax credit used by many firms incorporated in his state.

The opposition to any change in current practices is formidable. Both House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D., Texas) and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D., Texas) favor the status quo. The tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee has steadfastly resisted any reductions. Instead it has broadened depletion allowances to include such items as sand, gravel and clam shells so that almost every congressional district has some industry that benefits from the existing laws.

Administration View — Outgoing Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey says depletion allowances should be studied, but he gives as his "curb-stone" opinion that the current 27 1/2 per cent rate for oil and gas is "about right." His successor, Robert B. Anderson, comes to Treasury after heading a mining company that benefited from percentage depletion allowances on metals and minerals.

President Eisenhower told a news conference the oil depletion allowance was necessary to provide incentive, but some changes might be necessary to prevent any unfair advantage from being taken.

Tax deductions for depletion first were authorized in 1913, the theory being that part of the receipts from the use of natural resources is a return of money that was invested in acquiring or developing the property and should be exempt from income taxation. Under percentage depletion, the most widely used form, the income taxpayer with a depletable interest may deduct from 5 per cent to 27 1/2 per cent (the rate for gas and oil) of the annual gross income from the property, not exceeding 50 per cent of the net income.

Both domestic oil and gas companies, and U. S. firms operating overseas are eligible for the 27 1/2 per cent depletion rate. U. S. companies abroad also may claim a tax credit based on the amount of taxes they pay to a foreign country.

The companies, the combination of depletion allowances and foreign tax credits often means that they pay no U. S. income tax.

Operations of the Arabian American Oil Co. in Saudi Arabia were spotlighted by the O'Mahoney Subcommittee. In 1949 Aramco paid a U. S. income tax of $50 million. In 1950 Aramco agreed to pay a Saudi Arabian income tax. Since then its U. S. income tax has dropped to the vanishing point.

In 1955 Aramco had total earnings of $724,370,316. It paid Saudi Arabia $192,742,624 in income tax for which it got a tax credit against its U. S. liability. It also received a $121,698,005 U. S. depletion allowance and had net earnings of $272,212,467 after royalties and other expenses were paid.

A hypothetical domestic oil corporation with the same gross earnings and expenses would have had net earnings of $173,187,811. It would have paid $99,024,556 in Federal income tax and another $80,000,000 in state and local taxes. Its percentage depletion allowance would have been $81,769,859.

Defenders of the foreign tax credit on top of the depletion allowance say that if these tax concessions were eliminated, foreign countries immediately would raise their taxes. They also contend that U. S. operations abroad would be put at a competitive disadvantage with home-grown companies and the foreign countries would likely nationalize the U. S. holdings. This could lead, they continue, to the loss of oil needed by the U. S.

O'Mahoney claims the foreign tax concessions undermine the domestic oil industry by stimulating the importation of cheap oil. He says he considers the Saudi Arabian income tax a royalty disguised as a foreign tax payment. He also wonders why "companies obtaining the protection of the U. S. ... in the Middle East should be allowed to escape all United States tax burdens."

The oil and gas industry is used to Congressional sharpshooting. S. C. A. Swensrud, president of Gulf Oil Corp., brushes aside such attacks with the comment: "The depletion allowance has become as much a part of oil production as the rotary rig."

DR. CRANE SAYS

Wish To Help Others Is First Sign Of Christian

Does your club or church society want a dandy project that will revitalize the entire group? Then join the students in my Bible Class at St. John's Church and start spreading some of the love and joy of the Christian faith. That's a quick way to raise this Earth another notch higher toward Heaven.

Case V-342: Joe C. Buford, aged about 50, is the liveliest President of the Bible Class which I teach at the St. John's Church in Chicago.

A few months ago he decided to start a contest to whet the interest of the members. And it really made a remarkable difference from the very start. For example, Mr. Buford brought in 6 visitors the very next Sunday.

A young housewife named Shonnie Johnson, also had 5 or 6 visitors with her and kept up her high rating on succeeding Sundays.

As the teacher, I also corralled our children when they were home from college on vacation.

Since I react very positively to competition, I even rustled up some elderly folks and drove around for them in my automobile before 9:30 on Sunday morning.

Practical projects "Dr. Crane, what can we do further? some of the newer members of the class asked."

"We enjoy the Christian friendliness of this class, but we feel we are not doing enough. So we can offer you a project within our capacity?"

That extroverted wish to help others is one of the first signs of a Christian, for he wants to go out and spread the glad tidings. Most of the other religions of antiquity were selfish with the focus turned inward. Christ extroverted morality and sent his followers into all the earth to spread health, food, kindness and good will.

"So I told my class about Dr. Karl T. Waugh's famous "League of the Golden Pen," which he launched many years ago at Beloit College.

All you need do to become a member thereof is sit down and write ONE letter per week to somebody whom you would not normally contact by mail.

Your letter is to contain praise or condolence, sympathy or good cheer, and you can even send it to total strangers.

in your church, or the ushers and the forgotten man — the faithful church treasurer.

Or write a letter to the life insurance salesman who coaxed your husband into protecting you wives and children via the insurance policy your husband took out in your favor.

You can actually work miracles in the lives of many shy people who are normally overlooked and seldom praised.

And it will be a tonic for your own soul to develop the positive habit of looking around your neighborhood for people to whom you can offer this "verbal bouquet" in your note of praise.

Americans are hungry for appreciation. And elderly folks are often lonely, yet try to hide this fact from the general public.

Thousands of young folks also write to me from our large cities with the heart cry, "Dr. Crane, nobody cares whether I live or die!"

So, if you want to be a Christian, then SHOW other folks that you care whether they live or die. Pay them compliments.

Smile at people. And write encouraging letters to those who are shut-in or retired folks or faithful workers for good whom you have taken for granted far too long.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Cincinnati Lawyer Raises Issue Which American Bar Association Tries To Duck

Irwin Rhodes, a lawyer in Cincinnati, has raised an issue which the American Bar Association is naturally ducking because it is a very tough one to face. His point is that lay organizations are unlawfully practicing law. He calls attention to the fact that ideological and pressure groups "have a vast set up legal staffs on national and local bases and have as adjuncts legal committees and panels. Staff attorneys are generally salaried; other attorneys are paid for services rendered, often by or through the organization, or donate their legal services. These legal staffs and their cooperators have sought out cases intended to establish principles of law favorable to their cause, have filed so-called test cases, sometimes in the name of an individual, often solicited for the purpose, sometimes in the name of the organization itself."

Obviously this is bad legal practice, the American concept placing upon the lawyer the responsibility of not seeking clients; certainly when he creates the client, he is acting like those "strike suit lawyers who are really their own clients and whose object it is to blackmail a corporation into paying to have a suit withdrawn.

The pressure group is a curious American phenomenon and is a product of our wealth and profligacy. We will pay for anything if it becomes inconvenient or unpleasant not to pay. In most free countries, polite societies exist to discuss current problems; there have always been agitational groups which seek to stir the people to the acceptance of a certain philosophy of life. Hyde Park in London is dedicated to such activities.

Daily Devotions

But we will give ourselves continually to prayer, and to the ministry of the Word.—Acts 6:4.

Should we stand on the street corner and make a statement like the one quoted above, we would be considered hypocrites and cranks. But it can be our fervent wish that the good things of this life and the life to come be available to all people everywhere. And, if we live with this purpose and ideal, being always considerate and helpful, then surely we will be living examples of the spirit of this verse.

Almighty God, give us the purpose of the Nazarene as we live among Thy People. In the name of Christ we make our prayer. Amen.

You are forever in my heart... And every dream I know... You are as much beside me as... The winds that touch my cheek... And in each sound around me, dear... I seem to hear you speak... Oh, it is not like seeing you... And holding you to me... Nothing could ever take the place... Of your reality... No other touch... No other sound... As only you must know, my dear... And truly understand... As deeply and... Completely as I do... However far away, I still... Am not away from you.

School Board's Property Claim Supported Here

amendments subject to interpretation of the courts. The courts, so far as we can find, have not as yet rendered an opinion of any nature on these acts and amendments. As the entire property and future bond issues may be affected by these statutes, it might be wise to consider a friendly suit to judicially interpret the status of the City School Board.

Lassiter is the official attorney for the School Board. He explained yesterday that the attorney general of the state can render opinion on the subject.

However, final judgement would have to come in court, he said.

However, Lassiter said the City of Monroe acted within its power in ordering the building demolished and vacated, but suggested the School Board has ownership over "all other real and personal property now used for school purposes."

He further recommended that the controversial legal question concerning the ownership of school property be settled in court.

The district attorney's opinion came at the request of the School Board after disagreement arose between it and the City of Monroe over the ownership of the property.

Lassiter also said he felt the School Board should not resist the city's order to demolish and vacate the building.

Bids have been advertised for the demolition of the building and classes have been dismissed from the school. The school board still has its office there, however.

Legal Entanglement

The entire matter stemmed back to a legal entanglement connecting the city with the School Board over jurisdiction and power of school matters and property.

It was touched off in early June when the City Council ruled the grammar school building be vacated and demolished. The board agreed to do so.

However, at the same time the grounds were being mentioned as a future site of a new city hall and for a municipally owned and operated parking lot.

Since then, School Board President T. H. Scott said "everything has been worked out" and the School Board advertised for bids to lease the grounds as a parking lot.

That action came after Lassiter rendered his opinion. It was dated June 17th and Lassiter said he made copies available to the School Board and City Attorney Haynes Harkey.

However, no public official connected with the City Council or the School Board has made the opinion available to the public.

Copy Obtained

A reporter obtained a copy of the opinion from Lassiter yesterday. It is believed the opinion brought an end to the disagreement between the School Board and the City Council.

However, it is not known whether the question will ever be finally decided in court as Lassiter suggested. He pointed out his opinion is not final.

The trouble came about because of the legal connection between the City of Monroe and the School Board.

Up until 1948, the School Board was "unofficially" governed by the City of Monroe with the mayor acting as an ex-official member.

A legislative act in 1948 declared the School Board free of city jurisdiction, but school property is still in the name of the City of Monroe.

Question Arose

To make matters more complicated, the legal question arose over at least one old property deed stating the plot on the school grounds be used for "school purposes."

Father Ludovic Enaut sold 190 feet (one lot) of the present school grounds to the City of Monroe for $3500 on April 3, 1902.

It read in part:

"To have and to hold the said above described property into the City of Monroe and its successors for school purposes."

Several other deeds were involved and Lassiter said he based his opinion on "constitutional amendments and acts of the legislature."

ly, Balfour was put in his place the first time. That was in May. Balfour's downfall was Dr. Spencer, who requested him to call a special meeting to consider bringing the Sterlington principal before the board.

Dr. Spencer made the request of Balfour because he would be unable to attend the June meeting. So the westside — peevish because of Balfour's special meeting — put Trousdale back in at the June meeting. Dr. Spencer was not present.

Trousdale made it through the July meeting without any opposition. Westside Harry Wheelers was absent.

So with Inabert absent last night, the stage was set for the removal of Trousdale. The westside had the upper hand.

Line-Ups Given

The line-ups were as follows. With Dr. Spencer were Walter Bennett, C. G. Wall, Jr., Balfour, E. M. Finley, C. P. Holloway, M. H. Head and Wheelers.

With Trousdale were Warren E. Palmer, C. E. Buckley, Everett Zeagler, Fred S. McVay, Marvin Shipp, and Wayne McDonald.

All of the men left the meeting.

And that's exactly how the votes went. Zeagler first presented a motion to provide $57,000 for the new dressing rooms.

He said—in his motion—that the $57,000 should be taken from the project funds of Ward 5 and that a similar amount of money be earmarked in the reserve fund. "That's not fair," Wall said. "In other words, yawl are driving the bargain," Finley said. "This has been a badly handled matter," Trousdale admitted.

"Why earmark the funds?" Wall asked. Dr. Spencer was sitting next to Trousdale. He said nothing as he drew circles on a piece of paper.

Makes Motion

"I make a motion that we build the West Monroe football stadium," Dr. Spencer said.

"You mean that we provide funds for building the dressing rooms?" asked Trousdale. "Yes," answered Dr. Spencer.

There was more arguing and Dr. Spencer then presented a substitute motion that the dressing rooms be built with Ward 5 funds, excluding the earmarked fund clause.

"Where's that money coming from?" Finley asked. "We got plenty," a westside answered.

"We need consideration," Trousdale said. "We've got to build a stadium over here; the federal highway is going through our schools; we would appreciate consideration."

The argument was this. With $57,000 being earmarked in the reserve fund, that amount would be drawn from the entire parish.

The tension was rising. But then came two tremendous claps of thunder as it began to rain outside.

Statement Is Released Here By School Board Members

The following statement was issued last night following the Ouachita parish School Board meeting at which seven members walked out.

They issued the statement as follows. They were James H. Trousdale, Jr., W. E. Palmer, W. J. McDonald, L. E. Buckley, Marvin Shipp, Everett Zeagler and Fred McVay.

The statement reads:

"The special meeting was called tonight in an effort to work out as reasonable a solution as possible in regard to the West Monroe High School Stadium. The business to be transacted was limited to that single item. The meeting was called only after two members living in Ward 5 and Ward 7 had agreed to a resolution that was designed to substantially complete the stadium. At the meeting those two members violated their agreement. When their group sought to again assume control of the Board, contrary to the limitation of the call of the meeting, the undersigned members left the meeting.

"This particular disagreement has come about because Mr. Balfour, Mr. Wall and Mr. Bennett, the Ward 5 members, with the support of Dr. Spencer and members living west of the River, while in control of the Board, ran the cost of the stadium far in excess of the $250,000 allocated. They desired to use other funds, dedicated to classroom construction, to complete the stadium at a cost greatly in excess of $300,000.

Various Contracts

"The various contracts for the construction of the stadium were let separately, at different times. Lavish plans were made for a lighting system which cannot be found at any high school in Louisiana, or anywhere else, to our knowledge. Against a budgeted amount of $30,000 the low bid for the lights came to $45,554.00, and it did not include transformers, which will cost about $30,000 additional. When those plans were submitted to the Board, Mr. Wall and Mr. Balfour were cautioned that there would not be sufficient funds left for the completion of the stadium. We were assured that the stadium would be completed within the budget.

"The plans for the understructure were then prepared by those then in control of the Board, and they were extraordinarily elaborate. With the sum of $105,000 left in the budget, the low bid on their plans came to $145,720. Every member of the Board voted to reject those bids.

The plans for the understructure were then pared down to come within the budget by the administration that supplanted testing of an atomic rocket began in 1949.

The launching plane and its two companions were making a sharp turn about a mile away when the rocket went off.

"The plane encountered little more than normal turbulence from the shock wave," Hutchison said. "There was very little physical feeling of the blast, but the flash was quite noticeable."

Capt. Alfred Barbee of Wild Rice, N.D., armed the rocket's atomic warhead after the plane was in the air and launched it. The detonation was set off from a ground control point.

Maj. Bruce and four other defense command officers were stationed under the blast to test the possible effects upon the civilian population if an air battle was fought above a populated area with rockets.

They came out of the blast area appearing as trim as if they had just stepped out of an officer's club.

Solon Proposes Highway Plan To Government

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) — Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.) proposed today that a route from New Orleans to Duluth be designated a part of the interstate and defense highway system under the new federal highway program.

Roads on the interstate highway system are eligible for 90 percent federal construction contribution. He introduced a bill to include in the interstate system a route from New Orleans to Baton Rouge over U. S. 61 and from Baton Rouge to Duluth, via Alexandria and Shreveport, La., Texarkana and Fort Smith, Ark., and Joplin and Kansas City, Mo., over Highway 71. The route then would extend northward from Duluth to Canada.

Brooks said that actually all that would be added to the interstate system would be the mileage from New Orleans to Kansas City since highway 71 from Kansas to Duluth already is part of the system.

"I introduced the bill after consultation with the Bureau of Public Roads," Brooks said. "I am hopeful of getting action on it as it also has strong backing in Arkansas."

Beauty's Mother-In-Law Shocked At Contest Turn

CRISFIELD, Md., July 19 (AP)—If Leona Gage was hurt about being dethroned as Miss United States, she should have seen her mother-in-law.

Mrs. Long, an attractive, tall brunette with slightly graying hair is the mother of Gene Norris Ennis, married to Leona. He is an Air Force sergeant stationed at Friendship International Airport, near Baltimore.

Mrs. Long married her present husband, a frozen food plant employee, after divorcing Ennis' father, a seafood plant worker here.

The Longs are considered "good people" in this homey community on Maryland's lower Eastern Shore.

Son Upset

Mrs. Long told Mrs. Helen J. Perry, women's editor of the Salisbury Md. Times, that her son was very upset when he learned Leona planned to enter the contest. He didn't want to have anything to do with it, Mrs. Long said.

She had many telephone calls from friends congratulating her when Leona was chosen Miss United States in the Miss Universe contest at Long Beach, Calif.

"But I didn't feel that way about it," she said. "Anything you get by cheating is not worth having."

She said Leona brought the two children—Gene Norris Jr., 3, and David Nathan, 2½—her house about three weeks ago. She wanted Mrs. Long to care for them during the state contest and, if she won that, the national runoff.

Took Only One

But Mrs. Long could not handle more than one, so Leona took little David to stay on a farm near Baltimore.

Mrs. Long said she asked Leona if the persons conducting the contest knew she was married.

"She told me yes."

Mrs. Perry asked Mrs. Long if she knew her son had denied being married to Leona.

"No I certainly didn't," she answered. "It seems like everybody has turned out to be a liar."

File Case

"The attorney general advises me he will file the Adams County case for prosecution in the next few days," Golding said. He said taxpayers of Adams County paid $300,000 in interest on a $150,000 bond issue approved in 1912 with a 40-year maturity date.

"By 1952, when the bonds became due, taxpayers had already paid $300,000 in interest and still owed for the bonds."

He said Adams County officials "don't use their $250,000 a month in oil severance taxes to build roads and bridges, but they just get up a bond issue." He said the county should abolish its oil severance tax because of its oil severance revenue.

Knowland Says Compromise On Rights Bill Out

WASHINGTON, July 19 (UP)—Backers of President Eisenhower's civil rights bill today abandoned efforts to work out a compromise to scale down the authority to take court action against violators.

Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland (Calif.), who has been spearheading the fight for the bill, said the bill's all-out supporters will fight for so-called section three of the bill as it now stands.

The provision would give the attorney general power to seek federal court injunctions to block actual or threatened civil rights violations. Violators could be held in contempt and punished by a federal judge without jury trial.

Senator Stalks Out

Knowland's announcement followed day-long maneuvering. At one point, Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) stalked out of a meeting of GOP Senators, charging that his party colleagues were playing politics with the measure in an effort to win votes in 1958 and 1960.

Knowland earlier had introduced three minor amendments in an effort to placate southern foes of the measure which now has been before the Senate for two full weeks.

But his big hope was to work out a compromise on section three which the southerners could accept and which still would satisfy a Republican-northern Democratic coalition supporting the legislation.

Auditor Charges Funds Misspent In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., July 19 (AP)—State auditor Boyd Golding says audits have turned up nearly $500,000 in misspent public money in four counties alone—Benton, Hancock, Neshoba and Adams.

"I want to call names of those guilty of mishandling public funds so we can protect the honest officials, and we do have many honest men in office," he told a Jackson Veterans of Foreign Wars audience last night.

He named former Benton County Supt. of Education Douglas Autry, now serving a seven-year prison term on conviction of embezzling. He said Adams County supervisors mis-spent some $300,

Monroe Meets Ruston In Deciding Playoff Contest

Ruston and Monroe square off tonight at 8 o'clock for their battle for the Fifth District American Legion Junior baseball championship. Legion Stadium is the site for the clash, the third of the two out of three series.

Ruston has their ace, Charles Fuller, rested and ready to do their pitching and Monroe is expected to counter with either Fred Southernland or Jim Altick. Southernland was the starter and loser in the first game of the playoff and Altick won the second game although he didn't finish.

Fuller won both of his team's games in their semi-final playoff with West Monroe, taking the first, 8-3, and hurling a 3-hitter for the deciding win, 3-0. He started the first game with Monroe Wednesday night at Ruston, pitching well before giving way to Malone in the fifth.

If Fuller falters, Manager Ted Guillot can call on Hood or Malone. Hood started Thursday's clash but lasted only two-thirds of an inning before second baseman Malone came in to pitch the rest of the game.

Altick, a left-hander, won 6 and lost 1 during the regular season for Manager Ralph Sims' team and got credit for the 4-3 win Thursday although he wasn't around at the finish. Southernland had a 2-3 record during the season. He's a right-hander. He had started the first game with Monroe in the first game of that playoff, striking out 19 and allowing only 4 hits.

Lewis Kincaid is another pitching possibility for Monroe. He won 4 and lost 1 during the season and has pitched well in relief in the playoffs. After relieving Altick Thursday, he allowed only 2 hits in 2 and two-thirds innings to preserve Altick's win.

Monroe lost one of their top outfielders Monday when Dan Keith underwent surgery on his right arm. He's out for the season.

Stock Market Trading Good In Last Hour

NEW YORK, July 19 (UP)—Stocks made their best showing of the day in the last hour of trading today, paring losses in many issues and pushing others into higher ground.

Chemicals and aircrafts sparked the late rally. DuPont jumped almost 2 in the chemicals after being down most of the day, and United Aircraft rose sharply to rule up 2.

Other major groups followed the leaders. The buying developed after profit-taking and caution had combined to send the market irregularly lower. Activity picked up on the improvement.

The rails got into the act just before the close, with Baltimore and Ohio and Louisville and Nashville setting the pace. Each rose around 1. American Telephone sharply pared its earlier loss of more than 1.

Activity

Activity centered in low-priced features—Sunshine Mining, up another 1/2 point to 12 on its oil discovery; United Artists, 1 1/4 higher at 24 1/2; Benquet Consolidated, unchanged at 1 1/2.

Turnover dwindled to 1,930,000 shares from 2,120,000 Thursday and lightest of the month so far. Among the better gainers, with improvement of a point to 2 points, were West Indies Sugar, American Hawaiian Steamship, Newport News Shipbuilding.

Ran Up

Stauffer and Schering ran up over a point along with DuPont in the chemicals but Dow and U. S. Borax were down more than a point.

United Aircraft and Boeing were up around a point. Martin gained nearly 2.

Inland climbed over a point in the steels and National fell more than 1.

Tobaccos reflected continued publicity linking smoking and cancer. American lost nearly a point and Reynolds more than 1.

Lehigh Portland and Lone Star were down around a point in the cements. Caterpillar Tractor, Doebckmun, Bestwall, Gypsum, Worthington, Zenith lost a point to 2.

Of 1,130 issues traded, 375 were higher, 463 lower, 272 unchanged with 14 new highs set and 28 new lows.

Cotton

NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 19 (UP)—Cotton futures closed steady today as short covering increased toward the close and found offerings light. Final prices were 35 to 60 cents a bale higher.

Buying of about 4,000 bales of nearby December by one broker sparked the late upturn.

The 1957 crop positions sagged at times during the morning on light hedging by dealers, along with liquidation.

Demand for distant months stemmed from the belief that there will be no major change in farm legislation in time to affect the 1958 cotton crop. On this basis, traders anticipated another high loan next year under the provision of the present law, which forces the Department of Agriculture to raise price supports as surpluses decline.

Weather reports from the cotton belt were generally favorable.

After a steady opening futures eased on trade hedge selling and some selling by locals. Latterly, the market firmed, led by short covering by locals in the far off months and the belief that there will be no changes made in the loan program next year. Representative Cooley of North Carolina placed the blame on Secretary Benson for congress failure to agree on a new cotton program. A bill introduced by Representative Hagen, Democratic of California would fix the minimum support level at 28.15 cents for middling 1/4 inch for the 1958-59 crops. Unfixed call sales totaled 373,100 as of July 12 compared to 1,342,000 last year. The Japanese textile strike was settled after mills granted unions 15 minutes reduction in the working day for the same pay. Exports totaled 11,861 bales which brings the seasons total to 7,458,014 bales.

Doubling Farm Income Expected In Next 20 Years

PORT ALLEN, La., July 19 (UP)—Farm income should double in the next 20 years, an expert says. But he cautioned agriculture no longer is for the dreamer, the poet, or the fellow who doesn't know how to do anything else. Dr. Norman J. Efferson, dean of the Louisiana State University college of agriculture, told West Baton Rouge Parish sugar growers yesterday those sticking to farming must increase efficiency. Sugar surpluses should soon begin dwindling because of world population increases, he said. This increased population will mean a brighter future for agriculture, Efferson said.

EXTENDS FEED PLAN
WASHINGTON, July 19 (UP)—The Agriculture Department extended today the 1957 emergency feed grain program to Loving and Reeves counties in Texas because of prolonged drought conditions. This makes a total of six counties in Texas eligible for the aid.

If Child Becomes 'Mother-Deaf' Try Playful Devices To Get Obedience

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED
The moment children go out of doors to play there is the difficult part of getting them to come in again. The outdoors with its freedom, the excitement of being with other children and playing games, turn childish ears into tin ones which cannot hear a call to come to a meal or to dress.

One mother wonders if I can possibly suggest a way to teach children to come when called. No method will be 100 per cent successful and most parents become resigned, at times, to going after children and herding them home.

But much more effective than the mother's voice is the use of some sound-maker, like a whistle or a bell which if used for the purpose alone promotes eventually home. A child the signal which sets young feet turning homeward. "Oh, there goes the whistle. That's my mother, she wants me to come home." Children seldom resent the bell or whistle as they do that tone in the mother's voice which is inevitable if she has called more than once.

There is a further aspect to this which inspires obedience. And that is to tell the under-school-aged child to pretend he is a school child. When he hears the bell ringing he must learn to run in, just as he will come in from school when he really goes to school. He'll be happy to practice being a school child.

For children of school age a whistle works the best. Workmen stop work when the whistle blows. Let them give themselves some such title such as fireman or carpenter, what have you, and make haste to rush home at the sound of the whistle.

As for the small child who is intoxicated by his first freedom to run about independently, the mother may have to make a point of going after him immediately when she calls. By taking him by the hand and saying, "When you hear me call you must come home," the child learns that response.

Devices

If he tends to run in an opposite direction when the mother comes toward him it works well to turn toward him and say, "I'm going this way and you come along." A child runs as long as someone runs after him, when a back is turned he comes in haste.

All these are just devices. Neither a voice or a signal will always pierce the defenses erected by the playing child; but if the mother persists, and dawdling gets him nothing, the child will learn to mind. A voice, a ring, a whistle — they all come to mean just one thing, "You must come home."

If you would like our leaflet No. 73, "How to Manage the Child Recess when he really goes to school," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD

Type And Fit Of Undergarments Make A Big Difference In Figure

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The type of undergarments a woman wears and how they fit her make a great difference in the charm of her figure. Women who are not overweight, or only a little too plump, often look better in some of the lighter garments.

There is a new idea in girdles. The one I have in mind is quite light but restraining. However, it comes up only to the waist. For the woman who requires some restraint at the abdomen and hips but has a fairly slim waist, this is ideal. Often the longer girdle pushes the flesh up into a roll so that it makes her appear much thicker through the middle than she does with no girdle.

Care should be taken that girdles are not too high or that they are high enough. If you have one in between it is certain to create a roll which shows. If the girdle is high enough, the roll occurs higher up and is not usually so noticeable in your clothes because of the fullness of the blouse or top of the dress.

Long Bra
If you do not require first aid at the hip line or the abdomen but have a little thickness at the waistline, one of the waist cinchers or a long bra is helpful.

Today many of the lighter weight and lighter boned undergarments provide all of the pressure necessary. When this is true be sure to use one of this type since a waist is always more graceful when not too heavily boned and when movement is comfortable.

Brassieres should be carefully fit, not only because of your bust line but because of comfort. The straps should be short enough to support but long enough to avoid cutting into the shoulders.

Half Slips—Nee
Often slips wad up and wrinkle thereby spoil the effect of a close fitting gown. Half slips or underskirts (just to the waist) are preferable to the slip when feasible. It does not wrinkle or pull or crawl up when one sits. Therefore, these are more comfortable as well as more flattering.

Homework Gets Easier And Easier

ST. LOUIS — Here are some of the highlights of reports to the convention of the American Home Economics Association:

New control panels on laundry equipment will puzzle the homemaker only for a short time. The panels resemble the dashboards of automobiles, she said. But added automation will provide cold water washes and rinses, slower speed, shorter washing and spinning periods slower tumbling in the dryer, and cold air tumbling.

Automatic dispensers for laundry products are included in the equipment, and the new cleaners include fabric softeners, liquid detergents, cold water soaps, low and high sudsing detergents, more foolproof chlorine bleaches, and starches that are ready instantly.

Completely immovable electric appliances are a boon to homemakers. Miss Virginia Thabet, associate equipment editor of the American Home magazine, said electrical connections of immovable appliances are confined to cords that plug in, so the appliance may be immersed in water for easier cleaning.

Undecided About The Type Of House Or Type Of Furniture To Put In It?

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO — Undecided about the type of house to build or the type of furniture to put in it?

Think nothing of it. You're in the company of architects and designers of furniture who have reached a sort of crossroads in their search for a new look.

In fact, it seems they don't know which road to take because they confess they don't know what they want.

This appeared evident during the international summer furniture market where designers, manufacturers and buyers of home furnishings gathered and discussed today's discerning homemakers.

They find that the homemaker is budgeting her desires because she wants to be sure she's up to date with the fashions and the Joneses. Gen. Lawrence H. Whiting, says American tradition and its amalgamation of peoples and cultures, United States are now employed, and well over half of them are married women, not single or widowed.

They worked for that extra money for clothes, car, furniture and they want style," he says.

What Next?
This is the area that stumps Victorian, early American and the artisans. They don't know which road style will take, so steadily experienced an evolution they have created a sort of contemporary design that is a blend of many cultures.

The furniture designer looks to the architect for inspiration for new creations. The architect looks everywhere for his theme.

Both agree that we live in a machine age of steel, glass and automation. We've lived with these cold things for so long that our furnishings are beginning to reflect this influence.

Edward Wormley, furniture designer, says that there is a noticeable questioning of the square and geometric in what is known as international architecture, which originated in Germany in the early '20s.

The designers feel that it now is cold and unfriendly. They seek in budgeting her desires because she wants to be sure she's up to date with the fashions and the Joneses. American design based on the gamut of peoples and cultures, United States are now employed, and well over half of them are married women, not single or widowed.

They worked for that extra money for clothes, car, furniture and they want style," he says.

What Next?
This is the area that stumps Victorian, early American and the artisans. They don't know which road style will take, so steadily experienced an evolution they have created a sort of con-as contemporary.

Contemporary furniture has many forms and is scaled to fit into today's small family home. In some cases it is a modification of Colonial, French Provincial, and traditional furniture.

Designer John Van Koert takes exception.

"We are suffering from too much Ivy League look," he says.

"There's too much predictability.

Although we've produced nicely constructed, utilitarian, light and crisp designs, we've grown a little tired of it.

"The risk in this country is the monotonous look. People are groping for some decorative idiom, striving for a good decorative look."

Larry Peabody, designer, suggests that the sculptured look from Denmark is highly adaptable to American tastes. His formula for home furnishings selection is the use of half antique and half modern pieces.

This seems to be the essence of the new look revealed in terms such as the new humanism, the new romanticism, the new individualism.

New Forestry Center Being Set Up Here

What has been described as one of the south's most complete forestry centers is being established by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation at "White Columns," 40-acre estate located on Warren Drive in West Monroe.

Forestry personnel based in West Monroe have been moved from headquarters on Jonesboro Road to the new location.

The new headquarters will serve as central headquarters for the company's forestry department which extends throughout north Louisiana.

The rambling brick structure, built in 1940 as a private residence for officials of the Brown Paper Mill Co., one of Olin Mathieson's predecessors, contains over 4,000 square feet and has been completely renovated and converted into private offices, general offices, records section and a large conference room.

Forestry Manager Travis MacClendon said that a major portion of the grounds at the new Forestry Center will be utilized as experimental and demonstration plots in forestry and conservation. About half of the 40-acre tract is covered with stands of both pine and hardwood timber. A small lake is also located on the property.

Demo Committee In Union Asks Gravel's Ouster

FARMERVILLE, La., July 19 (AP)—The Union Parish Democratic executive committee today demanded national committeeman Camille Gravel be replaced by a man who will fight for the "maintenance of segregation."

The committee charged the Alexandria attorney at a Feb. 17 meeting of the Democratic National Advisory Council "did publicly vote for and support a resolution favoring passage of the notorious civil rights force bill now before Congress."

The resolution added that a May 8 meeting in New Orleans of the American Civil Liberties Union Gravel reaffirmed his support of the civil rights bill and "in addition compounded his opposition to the expressed wishes of the people of this state by publicly expressing his approval of the Supreme Court decision on segregation of May 17, 1954."

Gravel insists his action was no more than endorsement of the Democratic platform approved by the 1956 national convention.

HOFFA AWAITS VERDICT—James R. Hoffa poses outside the federal courthouse while a district court jury deliberates his conspiracy-bribery case. (AP Wirephoto)

Hoffa Acquitted On Bribe Charges

WASHINGTON, July 19 (UP)—A federal court jury today acquitted Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa of government bribery - conspiracy charges that he planted a spy in the Senate Rackets Committee.

The verdict, returned four hours and 40 minutes after the case reached the jury, touched off a burst of cheering among spectators in the courtroom.

"God bless the judge and jury," one onlooker shouted. The five men and seven women jurors headed the plea of defense attorney Edward Bennett Williams to free the five-foot-four-inch labor leader so he could continue to fight labor's battles.

Hoffa's next fight may be for the presidency of the giant Teamsters Union which he now serves as the reputed second in command. It had been announced that he would be a candidate to succeed union President Dave Beck if he were acquitted.

Hoffa, who bosses the union's midwest operations from Detroit, had been accused of trying to plant New York attorney John C. Cheasty as a spy on the rackets committee to feed him secret information on its teamster investigation.

He was indicted on charges of conspiracy, bribery and illegally obstructing the committee. A conviction would have brought him a $21,000 fine and 13 years in jail.

DOWN $727 MILLION

House Approves Slashed Measure On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—The House tonight passed a $3,116,833,000 foreign aid authorization bill, cut $727,800,000 below President Eisenhower's request.

Passage was by a 254-154 roll-call vote.

The vote climaxed a week of hot debate over the overseas aid program in which the House also voted down major Eisenhower proposals to put the aid program on a long-term basis.

The bill now goes to the Senate-House conference for compromise with a Senate-passed bill much closer to Eisenhower's original request. The Senate cut only 375 million dollars from the administration bill and it approved some long-term aid authority.

Counted On Compromise
Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles were counting on the Senate-House compromise committee to rescue some foreign aid projects severely trimmed in a final hectic day of House voting.

Specially hard hit in the long session that ran into the evening hours were Eisenhower programs for a new development loan fund and for economic aid to support defense programs of U.S. allies. Instead of the 900 million dollars Eisenhower wanted for defense support in the coming 12-month period, the House voted 155-74 for only 600 millions. The Senate bill provides 800 million dollars.

It limited Eisenhower's proposed new development loan fund to one year, instead of the requested three years and set a 500-million-dollar ceiling for the program.

Sought $500-750 Million
The President had sought 500 million dollars for the first year and 750 million for each of the following two years. He said this would put the foreign aid program on a sounder, long-range planning basis. The Senate went along with the President's request.

The bill sets terms and ceilings for the future aid program, but does not supply the money. The actual cash must be voted in a later appropriation bill, which in turn seems headed for stiff going in the House.

When it came to a final vote on the bill the House defeated by a margin of 227-181 a move to send the bill back to the House Appropriations Committee, which would have delayed the final action.

Another reminder that small children may sample whatever they get their hands on took place shortly before 2 p.m. yesterday. She was found eating it, and rushed to St. Francis hospital, where her stomach was washed out, and she was allowed to return home.

Marshal, Texas, May Close Pool Over Law Suit

MARSHALL, Tex., July 19 (UP)—Mayor Charles Spangler announced today that the city of Marshall will close its swimming pool for the summer rather than let Negroes and whites use it at the same time.

Marshall is the county seat of Harrison county where Negroes outnumber whites. A suit has been filed seeking de-segregation of the only city pool.

The mayor and six other city officials were named as defendants in the federal court suit. He said today the city would fight integration "as long as we have a chance."

The suit was filed on behalf of Titus Edwards, an Army veteran, college graduate, and one of two Negroes denied use of the pool June 4.

It was filed by two Dallas Negro attorneys, W. J. Durham and U. Simpson Tate, in federal court at nearby Jefferson.

Spangler said the city had attempted unsuccessfully to raise funds to build a separate pool for use of Negroes.

School Head Acquitted In Disturbance

PLAQUEMINE, La., July 19 (AP)—Albert L. Dupont, Plaquemine high school principal, today was cleared of a charge of disturbing the peace that resulted in a brief suspension last month.

Dupont was charged with disturbing the peace by a group of chaperones at a teen-age dance held at the Plaquemine high school gym. The Iberville Parish school board suspended him at the time, but later reinstated him.

Mayor Charles B. Schnebel today acquitted Dupont in a special city court hearing.

Dupont's attorney, Fred Benton Sr., said, "the most that can be made out of this case, from a legal or any other standpoint, is a Saturday night misunderstanding."

Yes, the clerk did say it wasn't returnable but I didn't think that meant I couldn't get my money back.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 19 (UP)—The Texas Railroad Commission today set the state's August allowable to 3,067,883 barrels daily on a 13-day production schedule, about the same as for July.

The August allowable was cut a negligible 2,040 barrels per day, marking the fifth consecutive month the allowable had been cut.

Representatives of six major companies urged continuation of the 13-day production schedule, but Magnolia Petroleum Co., nominated a 12-day schedule, Shell Oil Co., 14 days, and Sun Oil Co., and Sinclair Refining Co., asked for a 15-day schedule.

Lathers was indicted on the murder charge by the East Feliciana Parish grand jury. He began serving the armed robbery sentence before the victim died.

BRITISH DISAPPOINTED

American Manpower Plan Balked At By Russians

LONDON, July 19 (UP)—Russia told today it would not agree to an American plan for a three-stage military manpower reduction if the West continued to insist on prior settlement of international political problems.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin told the five-power London disarmament conference he would accept a troop cut to 1,700,000 men for the United States and Russia only if there were no strings attached.

The British expressed disappointment. The U. S. delegation was more optimistic.

Lake Yields Five Bodies Of Airmen

FLATTSBURGH, N.Y., July 19 (UP)—Lake Champlain today yielded the bodies of five Air Force men killed last night in the fiery crash of their heavy KC97 tanker plane. Three males survived.

The million-dollar craft plummeted into the lake's turbulent waters three minutes after takeoff from the Strategic Air Command base in this city near the U.S.-Canadian border.

The plane piled into an underwater reef and broke in two, then burst into flames. The fire and billowing black clouds of smoke could be seen 15 miles away.

Air Force officers said two of the plane's four engines had failed. A board of inquiry launched an investigation.

Skin divers recovered the bodies one by one during a 12-hour search by airmen and state police. One was found in the fuselage, the others in the water close by the plane.

Identify Dead

The base identified the dead as: The pilot, Capt. Robert V. Smith, 38, whose wife and two children live in New City, N.Y.; copilot, Lt. Thomas W. Craven, 26, of Morrisville, N.Y.; and Lt. Jack L. Hagens, 24, of Robertsdale, Pa.; Lt. Malcolm McCoy, 27, of Cloyd Landing, Ky., and Sgt. Jackie A. Jamerson, 24, of Riverdale, Md., and Asheville, N.C.

Two of the survivors parachuted to safety. Sgt. Chester A. Kazinski, 32, of Chicago, a flight engineer, and Sgt. Eli S. Radanovich, 38, of South Ben, Ind., radio operator, landed about six miles south of the crash.

Sgt. John F. Morgan, 34, of Garfield, N.M., another flight engineer, was pulled from the water by Charles Finley of Keeseville, who was on the lake in a motorboat.

The three suffered cuts and bruises.

The crash occurred about a mile and a half off Port Kent, 15 miles south of the city. The plane had taken off at 9:28 p.m. on a routine training mission.

Polio Cases In Texas Decline

AUSTIN, July 19 (UP)—Polio cases for Texas during 1957 continued well behind last year as 38 new cases were reported last week, the State Health Department said today.

The year's total thus far is 402, compared to 607 a year ago.

Harris county, the state last week with five cases.

The Health Department also said that despite recent floods, the 66 cases of typhoid fever reported for the first 28 weeks of 1957 represented a lower incidence than for any similar period in the past 10 years.

Ex-Governor's Brother Dies

Dallas, July 19 (UP)—John M. Colquitt, 90, whose brother, O. B. Colquitt, was governor of Texas from 1911 to 1915, died today after a long illness at a Dallas rest home.

Colquitt was a retired real estate operator. He was a native of Camilla, Ga., and had lived in Dallas since 1914.

The only immediate survivor is a brother, Pierce Colquitt, of Corsicana. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 9:30 a. m. from the Guardian Funeral chapel. Burial will be in Sulphur Springs.

Wilson Orders Some Defense Secrecy Lifted

WASHINGTON, July 19 (UP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson ordered the military services today to abandon the "empty gesture" of trying to keep secret labels on weapons and data the Russians already know about.

He also cut down on the number of military and civilian officials who may stamp documents "Top Secret." And he prohibited any use of secrecy labels to cover up information which "might tend to reveal administrative error or inefficiency or might be embarrassing."

Wilson laid down the injunctions in a two-edged order which also instructed the services to crack down on military officials and defense contractors found to have committed really dangerous security "leaks."

In "extreme cases," business firms involved in such incidents could be denied future military contracts and their responsible officials prosecuted.

Wilson's order was aimed at ending the use of proposals of a special committee set up last year to devise means of halting what he called alarming leaks of secret information. The group was headed by former Assistant Secretary Charles A. Coolidge.

Wilson noted that the Coolidge committee had urged the military services to "cease attempts to do the impossible and stop classifying (making secret) information which cannot be held secret."

He added that trying to hide an airplane or a missile which has reached the stage of development where it is exposed to public view is "an empty gesture. This, he said, "generates disrespect for security program in general."

Wilson said his goal was to keep the public as thoroughly informed as possible about the nation's military activities while at the same time "safeguarding information which requires protection."

On the basis of the Watkins decision, Judge McLaughlin on June 28 dismissed one of the two counts on which he convicted Miller. But, on the remaining count, Judge McLaughlin said, Miller had failed to challenge the pertinency of the question the committee asked him about Communist associates.

But Miller's lawyers asked Judge McLaughlin to reconsider the matter again in view of the appeals court's decision in the Singer case. They said Singer had not challenged the pertinency of the question when he refused to name persons with whom he attended Communist meetings while he was on the Harvard faculty in the 1940s. Yet, they added, the court applied the Watkins decision in clearing Singer.

name persons with whom he attended Communist meetings while he was on the Harvard faculty in the 1940s. Yet, they added, the court applied the Watkins decision in clearing Singer.

Miller Fined, Sentenced In Contempt Case

WASHINGTON, July 19 (UP)—Playwright Arthur Miller was fined $500 and given a one-month suspended jail sentence today for contempt of Congress, but he refused to let the curtain fall on his case.

He announced he would appeal, saying, "I don't believe that I ever committed contempt."

U.S. Dist. Judge Charles McLaughlin turned down a new motion Miller made today to have his May 31 conviction set aside. Instead, he imposed sentence on the 41-year-old husband of actress Marilyn Monroe.

But, rather than send Miller to jail for the 30-day term, Judge McLaughlin placed the tanned, lanky writer on probation for three months.

The judge said that in imposing sentence, he had taken into account the fact that Miller answered all but two questions put to him by a House Subcommittee on Un-American Activities in 1956. Miller had based his two recent requests for reversal of his conviction on recent high court rulings.

Miller was convicted of unlawfully refusing to answer two questions before the House subcommittee. They dealt with the identity of persons with whom Miller said he attended meetings of Communist writers in New York in 1947.

In his testimony, Miller admitted he had supported Communist causes, but said he had never been under Communist discipline.

Miller's attorney, Joseph L. Rauh, asked for an acquittal today in the light of a U.S. Court of Appeals decision June 28, that reversed the contempt of court conviction of Marcus Singer, Cornell University zoology professor.

The appeals court, in clearing Singer, said it acted in view of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in the contempt of Congress case of labor organizer John T. Watkins. That ruling, in effect, limited the questions a congressional committee can ask.

On the basis of the Watkins decision, Judge McLaughlin on June 28 dismissed one of the two counts on which he convicted Miller. But, on the remaining count, Judge McLaughlin said, Miller had failed to challenge the pertinency of the question the committee asked him about Communist associates.

TEMPORARY TOMB

Aga Khan III Buried In Egypt's 'Land Of Dead'

ASWAN, Egypt, July 19 (UP)—The Aga Khan III was laid to rest in a temporary tomb in ancient Egypt's "Land of the Dead" today while his begum sobbed and his followers prayed and moaned.

The ceremony was held up for 15 minutes when the coffin proved too long for the tomb. Workmen had to clear away brick and plaster.

The new Aga Khan IV, dressed in white suit and red fez, stood highpriestly while Mullahs (Moslem priests) chanted prayers over his grandfather's body.

Struggling workmen then hoisted the body into the tomb in the courtyard of the old Aga's beloved villa on the banks of the Nile.

The new leader of millions of Moslems of the Ismaili sect was flanked by his father, Prince Aly, in black suit and hat, and his younger brother, Ameen, and uncle, Sadruddin, both in white.

Ismaili faithful from many nations jammed into the big living room and dining room of the villa and its courtyard—all transformed into a mosque for today's ceremonies.

The ceremonies took place in mid-afternoon and the temperature soared to 115 degrees. They lasted 45 minutes.

The Ismaili followers of the old and new Aga assembled in the white stucco villa before the family came.

They sat cross-legged along two sides of a narrow aisle which led from the white oak coffin at one end of a long hall to the raised marble tomb into which the coffin was supposed to fit.

For the occasion the walls were hung with bright patterned carpets.

A Mullah chanted three prayers over the body.

The begum stayed in a side room with two nurses until the rest of the family arrived. They stood together in front of the coffin with bowed heads.

The begum, dressed in white and wearing a white veil, sobbed as her nurses comforted and supported her.
